

Miller Named Resident Engineer Inspector for Port Ewen Water Plant

Traveling Engineer Maxwell Gold Announces Appointment of Head for $125,000 PWA Financed Project.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

Engineer Miller Was in Charge of Projects in Cornwall, Highland Falls and Highland.

Augustus Miller has been appointed resident engineer inspector for the Federal Public Works Administration on the new $125,000 PWA financed Port Ewen water supply system. The appointment has just been announced by Maxwell Gold, PWA traveling engineer in charge of this territory.

The construction of the proposed new water system for the village was made possible by an outright grant from the PWA of $56,250, and the project is scheduled to be completed about October of this year.

Mr. Miller will bring with him a wide experience gained as engineer on other important undertakings and the local authorities and the contractors in speeding the new project to completion. Mr. Miller has been in charge of several projects in this vicinity, such as the sewerage systems for the town of Cornwall, Highland Falls and in Highland, also the construction of schools, grade crossings and water systems in various parts of the state, all of which were projects made possible by grants to the municipalities by the PWA.

"It will be Mr. Miller's duty," said Mr. Gold, "to see that the new project is built in accordance with the high standards embodied in the plans and specifications. He will see to it that the quantity and quality of the materials being used is in accordance with the requirements; that workmen are paid in accordance with the established wage scales, and that they are adequately protected against accidents, as prescribed by PWA regulations.

As soon as construction contracts are let the local PWA office will be established at the site of the project.

To Demand Colonies

London, Feb. 10 (AP)—German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop obtained an afternoon appointment today with Viscount Halifax, the lord privy seal, to formally present Germany's demand for the return of her war-torn colonies. Viscount Halifax was expected to tell the German ambassador that the colonial question could be considered only in connection with a western European security pact. Von Ribbentrop, in reply, was believed ready to demand amendment of the Franco-Soviet alliance, which Germany considers a bar to such a security pact.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—The position of the treasury on February 8: Receipts, $16,333,067.30; expenditures, $21,012,997.02; balance, $1,558,905.65; 37 cents receipts for the month, $11,384,078.94. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,542,984,750.65; expenditures, $4,413,158,824.33, including $1,771,159,731.04 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $1,870,174,073.68; gross debt, $34,550,750,841.15, a decrease of $1,145,944.25 over the previous day; gold assets, $11,383,691,648.16, including $132,538,945.39 of inactive gold.

4 Bodies Sought

New Madrid, Mo., Feb. 10 (AP)—Grapples continued to search today for the bodies of four levee workers missing since the sinking of a barge in the Birds Point-New Madrid spillway January 30. The recovery yesterday of two bodies brought the known death toll of the disaster to 25.

2 Freight Cars With $4,000 in Foodstuffs Leave for Nashville

The West Shore freight yard here was a busy place all day Tuesday, while truck load after truck load of all kinds of foodstuffs, from parts of their country, was loaded into two freight cars for shipment to a Red Cross relief warehouse at Nashville, Tenn. One car, loaded with over $2,000 worth of produce, left Kingston last night. The other was completed this morning and will leave today.

The committee was very much pleased by the generosity exhibited by the number of donations, of all kinds of food, was much greater than anticipated. The number of contributions is so large that it will be impossible to give individual recognition. At least 500 families made contributions. The committee asked permission to use the medium of the press to thank each and every contributor and helper.

It might be interesting to note that the car which left last night was loaded with 250 bushels of potatoes, turnips, carrots, cabbage.

Mrs. Elting Retires As President of Industrial Home

Mrs. Philip Elting of Malden Lane, who has been president of the Board of Managers of the Industrial Home for the past 11 years declined reelection at the annual meeting held this month, and Mrs. M. H. Herzog was elected president to fill the office for so many years filled with distinction by Mrs. Elting. Mrs. Elting still retains her membership in the Board of Managers and has been a member of the board for over a quarter of a century.

Mrs. Elting was a member of the board when the Industrial Home was located on Broadway, near Staples street, and was one of the most active members in the campaign to raise funds for building the present fine institution on East Chester street. During that campaign she served as treasurer.

During all the years that Mrs. Elting has been actively identified with the work carried on by the Industrial Home she has never lost interest in the institution and has willingly devoted many hours to the problems that have arisen from year to year. She was again the unanimous choice for president at the annual meeting this year, but much to the regret of her fellow members she declined the office, stating that while she realized the honor she believed it would be best for some other member of the board to carry on the work as president, and that she would pledge herself to assist and aid the new president.

Mrs. M. H. Herzog, who was elected president of the board, has been a member of the board for some years and has always been actively interested in the work of the institution and will undoubtedly prove a worthy successor to Mrs. Elting.

The 60th annual meeting of the trustees and managers of the Home was held February 1, and the other officers elected were: First vice president, Mrs. Frank L. Eastman; second vice president, Mrs. O. D. B. Inall; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Ray Everett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. Phelps; treasurer, Mrs. M. R. Constant; assistant treasurer, Mrs. John B. Stetley; trustees, Mrs. A. Staples, J. T. Washburn, F. A. Waters, William C. Kingman, S. D. Hiltner, Alfred Schmid and Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

Jail Sentence Excessive

An appeal taken to county court in the matter of The People vs. Frank Tyler, Jr., has been heard by County Judge Frederick G. Traver and the decision of Justice Theron E. Townsend of town of Shandaken was affirmed so far as the $10 fine imposed is concerned but a reversal of the jail sentence is made on the grounds it was excessive. John M. Cashin of Caden & Elic argued the appeal for the appellant who was charged with a violation of Section 1221 of the Penal Law.

Back at Work Today

New York, Feb. 10 (AP)—Non-professional employees of the Bronx 21st Hospital in Brooklyn were back at work today, ending their six-day strike which brought a decrease of $15 monthly and recognition of their committee. The strikers refused the last three days to provide food for the 22 doctors and 250 nurses but continued to serve patients.

S. F. Irish Dies

Philadelphia, Feb. 10 (AP)—Samuel F. Irish, vice president of the Presbyterian pension board, died last night. He was 79. Irish formerly was moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

Detroit, Feb. 10 (AP)—John L. Lewis, director-general of strikes against General Motors automotive units, and the board of strategy of The United Automobile Workers of America met today in a possibly significant session that delayed the opening of the 13th assembly of Governor Frank Murphy's strike peace conference.

The board of strategy, once empowered to call a general strike of all union members employed by General Motors, has the authority to approve a proposal for settlement of the bitter dispute that has halted the corporation's passenger car production. Negotiators working in constant communication with Washington sought in today's conference to close the last gap separating positions of the union and General Motors representatives who have explored a number of settlement possibilities.

Based on Toledo Pact Before the conferees in today's meeting, it was learned authoritatively, were proposals based on the recent agreement that ended the Libby-Owens-Ford glass strike at Toledo. This provided for recognition of the Glass Workers' Federation as bargaining spokesman for its members only.

The automobile workers' demand that the union be recognized as sole bargaining agency in at least 20 of General Motors' 69 automotive plants has been the stumbling block in peace negotiations. Recession from this stand, it was understood, would be accompanied by definite guarantees that the corporation would show no partiality to other bargaining agencies in any negotiations for settlement of disputes.

Executives Arrive William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, and his associates arrived at the conference room to find Governor Murphy and James F. Dewey, Federal Labor Department conciliator, already present.

Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, which is supporting the auto strikes, delayed his appearance while he talked to the union board of strategy. Lee Pressman, C. I. O. counsel, and Wyndham Mortimer, union vice president, were the union representatives on hand for the opening of the negotiations.

Union headquarters reported that one of its sound trucks was seized and burned by three men who took it from two union members at a West Side hall here this morning. Hopes for settlement of the far-flung strikes rose after the governor announced that "not a great deal separates" the positions of the opposing leaders.

Bradshaw Resigns

Flint, Mich., Feb. 10 (AP)—Mayor Harold E. Bradshaw announced today he had resigned from the sales department of the Buick Motor Car Co., "because I consider I should not be employed by that company during the present industrial situation."

Bradshaw said the resignation was effective Monday but that he actually had not worked for the company since the General Motors strikes started.

$20,000 Jewelry Stolen

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 10 (AP)—Two masked bandits stripped jewelry she valued at $20,000 from Mrs. Roral Mattison early today after forcing the car of her husband, retired Philadelphia asbestos contractor, to a halt on a city street. The Mattisons and Miss Mary Stein, also of Philadelphia, were returning to their winter home from an entertainment. Coming alongside, the men forced the Mattison car to the curb and ordered the occupants into the street, robbed them and drove away.

Completes Mission

Ennsfeld, Austria, Feb. 10 (AP)—British Princess Royal completed today her mission to the Duke of Windsor with every indication that the financial future of the abdicated monarch had been a principal subject of discussion. Princess Mary, his sister, was understood to have brought the royal family's suggestion in this matter. It was likewise understood that she now is ready to return to London with the Duke's answer and counter-proposal—whatever it is.

Defiant Catholics Hold Orizaba's Churches, Angered by Mexican Police Killing of Girl

Orizaba, Vera Cruz, Mexico, Feb. 10 (AP)—Defiant Catholics, angered by the police slaying of a 14-year-old girl worshippers, held possession of this city's long-closed churches today while the state government considered their demand for repeal of anti-church laws.

For the first time in 10 years, bells tolled as faithful crowds burst into the churches late yesterday while police looked on without interfering. Catholic sources estimated the crowds at 15,000.

Throughout the night, vigilantes remained on guard in the shattered buildings, watchful lest authorities try to close the doors again. The situation was so tense that Orizaba's annual Mardi Gras carnival on the eve of Ash Wednesday was called off. State Prosecutor Adolfo Moreno promised, however, Catholics would have full religious guarantees and the state government took under consideration their demand for repeal of the laws.

Tempers flared after the fatal shooting of Louisa Sanchez and the arrest of 73 of 200 worshippers supposedly attending clandestine services in a private home Sunday. The

Rebels Hold Seaboard 16 Miles From Malaga; Reds Give Up En Masse

Fascists "Mop Up" in Hills Leading to Coast; Misery Stalks Madrid, Where Food is Very Scarce.

DUCE ACCUSED

Reds Say Italian Warships Aided Capture of Malaga; Rebel Warship Bombed Barcelona.

Malaga, Spain, Feb. 10 (AP)—Defeated Government Militiamen laid down their arms in mass surrender today before a victorious Fascist advance toward Motril, 68 miles up the Spanish Mediterranean Coast from this captured port.

One column of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's triumphant troops took forcible control of the Seaboard highway along the Mediterranean to a point 16 miles east of the conquered port.

In the hills leading down to the coast, insurgent Cavalrymen engaged in "cleaning up" operations in efforts to stamp out threats of guerrilla warfare.

Another column swung down on Motril from the north, routing Socialist soldiers from positions in the fertile valleys just north of the coastal mountains.

Insurgent commanders reported large bodies of Government troops had escaped into the mountains of Malaga province.

There they were said to have established a type of stronghold on the rugged peak of El Tocal, south of Antequera, where gigantic crags provided easy shelter.

Misery in Madrid

Madrid (Uncensored). By messenger to Paris (AP)—Misery stalks the women of Spain's beleaguered capital in their struggle for the meager supplies of food that remain.

Stoicism almost beyond belief marks the embattled population of the civil war-torn city, in the face of shells, bombs, unheated homes and the shortage of food.

For the men it means some kind of war work from the trenches to the factory; to the children it means a whole new life of work and play, broken by the terrifying thud of exploding shells.

But for the women, it means a dull, ceaseless struggle to keep the homes running—homes, that, far from pleasant and warm and livable, are not even safe.

Frequently, bombs, missing other objectives, plunge into the houses and the residence streets, and more than one woman has paid with her life for her patient refusal to leave the danger spot that once was the scene of her family's happiness.

Madrid is living on itself and of itself as have few cities in history. Relief has come from Valencia and Barcelona, but the chief food supply comes from the surrounding countryside, scoured daily by food commissars.

Italians Accused

Valencia, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Spanish Socialist government today daily accused Italian warships of aiding in the insurgent capture of Malaga by preventing the government fleet from steaming to help the beleaguered port.

An official communique, drawn by a special cabinet session last night, charged the alleged Italian action was "the climax of a long series of direct acts supporting the rebels (Fascists) and making a mockery of the non-intervention agreement."

Barcelona Bombarded

Barcelona, Feb. 10 (AP)—An insurgent warship bombarded this Spanish government port early today for more than an hour in a continuous duel with the shore batteries. The warship held its position far out to sea, however, and the few shells that registered direct hits on the port caused only slight damage.

Not Even a Bruise

Pittsburgh, Feb. 10 (AP)—Hospital physicians marveled today at the durability of Mrs. Anna Yukas, 82 years old. While gathering coal in a railroad yard she was hit by a locomotive. At the hospital, attaches said they found she wasn't even bruised.

11 Die in New Plane Crash, Death Toll Now 43 in West

Hearing Continued On Cannon's Claim

Chester C. Dumond testified as an expert appraiser on behalf of Ulster county when the condemnation commission resumed hearing in the claim of Francis D. Cannon for land taken for rebuilding of 9-W at Highland.

At the court house this morning, examined by Roscoe Elsworth, county attorney, Mr. Dumond stated that in addition to qualifications given at a previous hearing he had for a dozen or more years been in the landscaping business and among other work had had charge of the landscaping for the W. E. Bruyn estate at Bruynswick, which comprised around 1,000 acres when he first took up the work there.

As to the value of the Cannon property, Mr. Dumond testified that he had placed a value of $8,550 on it before the taking on September 26 last year, while the value after taking he estimated to be $5,940, showing Mr. Cannon to be damaged to the extent of $2,610 as a result of the county taking a strip about 100 feet wide across the western part of the property.

The rest of the morning session was taken up by A. D. Lent, attorney for Cannon, who examined Mr. Dumond in great detail as to how he arrived at his figures, damages awarded for specific things, cost of possible alteration of the property to make it available for gas station and tourist trade purposes, when the new road was built, etc. It was brought out during the examination that the Le Fever gas station property, about 1 1/2 miles south of Highland, sold last fall for $17,000. The Cannon property is located north of Highland about two miles, with the Poughkeepsie bridge between the two points.

Considerable time was spent in trying to show that traffic was heavier north of the bridge than south, the intention being that a station located north of the bridge would have better business prospects than one located south.

Arthur J. Burns was to testify as an expert appraiser for the county at this afternoon's session. Experts for the claimant have placed a value on the entire property, before taking, of $12,000, and after taking of $4,000 or $5,000.

Crash Heard Miles Away

Airport attendants were notified when the plane, coming into the airport from Los Angeles, obtained landing directions and then flew on over the bay.

Watchers at the airport followed its flying lights until it suddenly died into the bay with a crash and 11 miles away.

A five-hour search of the bay by plane and boat followed before the wreckage was found. The transport apparently hit the shallow water right side up with such an impact it was turned completely over.

The plane lay on its back, pointed towards shore as though it had been circling to return to the airport.

Cornet William Crosby of San Mateo county said the bodies would be brought to Redwood City, south of the airport and on this side of the bay, for an inquest.

R. E. Negerton, an Express Company employee, said there was a big boom when the plane struck and disintegrated.

Representative Lamneck, Ohio, Asks End of Usurped Powers, Serving of Notice for Departments to Stick to Duties.

"LACK OF CANDOR"

Celler Assails Roosevelt for "Lack of Candor," Fears Punishment of Judges is Aim.

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—In the first burst of Democratic opposition on the House floor to President Roosevelt's court reform program, Representative Lamneck (D-Ohio), suggested today it might lead to a "Hitler, a Mussolini or a Stalin government."

Lamneck spoke shortly before the House planned to take up a bill for retirement of Supreme Court judges at 70—a part of the judiciary reform plan recommended by Mr. Roosevelt.

"I hope the time has arrived when we will meet this challenge to the usurping of our powers and duties and serve notice that we intend to insist that the Executive occupy his position; that the Judiciary shall occupy its position, and that the legislative branch of government will do the job the Constitution intended it to do," he said.

Amplification Probable

The President arranged a series of conferences with congressional leaders on his court reform proposals today designed, some officials believed, to amplify and expand his aims.

White House aides announced the conferences as 10 Democratic representatives banded together to unite opposition to the President's program. Two minor phases of which were on the House calendar for immediate debate.

"Punitive" Action

In a statement today Representative Celler (D., N. Y.), ranking majority member on the House Judiciary committee—not one of the 10—asserted Mr. Roosevelt showed "lack of candor" in presenting his program and sought to "punish" Supreme Court justices who had opposed administration legislation.

He added he had discussed the President's proposals with a cabinet member and was told only one of the cabinet family had been consulted by Mr. Roosevelt prior to dispatch of the message to Congress last Friday.

Senators Summoned

Five Democratic senators were summoned to the White House for a discussion this afternoon. They were Senators Neely of West Virginia; McCarran of Nevada; McGill of Kansas; Hatch of New Mexico and Hughes of Delaware.

Senator Logan and Representative Vinson, both Kentucky Democrats, were invited to confer with Mr. Roosevelt later this afternoon. They were asked to come to discuss other matters as well as the judiciary recommendations.

The 10 House Democrats who joined in opposition to the President's program, appointed Representative Cox of Georgia chairman of a steering committee to line up other members.

Massachusetts Attacked

Today at Boston Speaker Horace P. Cahill (R.), of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, breaking a precedent of long standing, today said he would file a resolution condemning President Roosevelt's proposed changes in the United States Supreme Court.

"The proposal of the President constitutes a thrust into the very vitals of democracy that may well prove its undoing," Cahill asserted.

Schirick Orders Payments on Lands At Lackawack Site

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick has signed orders involving payment to several claimants of money for lands to be acquired by the city of New York for the construction of the Lackawack water project. The orders direct that the city deposit in designated banks the amount of the claimants the sum of one-half of the assessed valuation of the parcels to be taken.

The law provides that before the city can enter upon the premises payment to the extent of one-half of the assessed valuation of the parcels taken be paid to the claimant and the full amount to be paid by a commission of appraisers as ordered by the court. From the fund ordered by the court, the city is to pay the balance of the amount which is now deposited on the basis taken.

Among the claimants who are affected by the orders are

Mr. Andrew T. Gilday,
Grand Knight, Knights of Columbus,
Knights of Columbus Building,
Broadway and Andrew street,
Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sir:

Beginning February 19 we are planning to hold our monthly mental clinic in the municipal building on East O'Reilly street, which has recently been opened by the Board of Health of the city of Kingston as a clinic center for the community. I believe this new health center is the logical place in which to hold our clinic as the physician in charge will have at his disposal equipment often found necessary for the examination of patients coming to the clinic.

I wish to express to you my appreciation of the uniform courtesy which has been extended to the clinic personnel by those in charge of the Knights of Columbus Building as well as my thanks for the use of the rooms, of which we have been free tenants for some years past.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)
ROBERT WOODMAN, M. D.,
Superintendent.

P. S. We expect to continue the clinic right along and to make of it as much service as we can to the people of Kingston and surrounding territory.

Founder's Day Held By Local P. T. A. at High School Hall

Highland, Feb. 10.—Founder's Day as an annual feature of a program in February was observed at the meeting of the Highland Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday evening at the high school with a large audience present, in view of the slippery traveling.

Mrs. James Swift read a communication from Mrs. Philip S. Wakeley, state chairman of Founder's Day, before going to the platform to continue the commemoration of the founders. Alice Birney and Phoebe Hearst. After reading a tribute to the Marilyn Dimsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edison Dimsey, lighted the white candle of memory; then at mention of the 2,000,000 members that constitute the national organization, Mrs. Lawrence Gaffney, for many years treasurer of the local organization, lighted the blue candle that stood for the national organization; to represent the 100,000 members in New York state, a teacher, Mrs. Edward Jacobs, lighted the red candle; for the local association the president, Mrs. Haynes, lighted the gold candle, and in a duet by the Misses June Reynolds and Ruth Goldsmith, "My Tribute," was sung.

Two former past presidents, Mrs. Philip Wilklow and Mrs. Gay Bradt, in costumes of the past, were also on the platform.

Adding to the pleasure of the program the operetta, "The Milk Maid and the College Girl," was presented. A rural background of painted scenery and grouped in front were Miss Dorine Busch as milk maid, and with her for the chorus of milk maids were the Misses Jean Schantz, Alvia Smith, Ruth Haynes, Doris Contant, Margaret Palazzo, and Lena Constantino as the college girl. This was coached by Miss Ann Taylor of the faculty.

Recommendations made at the executive meeting held last week were adopted to the effect that $10 be contributed toward the Red Cross fund through Miss Barbara Meritt, and that all milk bills be paid by the treasurer, Miss Martha Benesh, who reported that she had paid $1 for stationery; district dues as $4 and 30¢ for paper used locally, leaving a balance of $173.82. She had received 60 cents for two dues of members. Mrs. James Swift, corresponding secretary, read a letter from Senator Arthur Wicks promising his vote for the bill of Senator Feldt for the establishing of kindergartens in schools. A letter from Mrs. Louis F. Fellows, county director, as to sending a delegate to the institute to be held at Cornwall in April. Another communication was read concerning a series of lectures to be given on Parent Education by Dr. Martha Peabody in Ulster county during March and April. There were 10 persons who expressed their interest to attend such talks. Mrs. Elmer Randall, as custodian of the local organization, reminded those who had promised to give her the newspaper accounts for filing. Miss Marie Van Wormer had copies of the Parent-Teacher Magazine, of which a copy was placed in the library for distribution. Mrs. Herbert Campbell reported the expenditure of $1.20 for tissues given to Mrs. Susan Pless to be used by the small children who were without handkerchiefs and in lieu of old muslin, as the supply was exhausted.

Mrs. Haynes announced March 10 as the date when Mrs. Valentine Seaman would speak at the high school on "Character and Personality," and that a tea would be served following the talk. The March meeting with "Hobbies" as the feature was in charge of C. Imbrie Richards. Dr. Victor Salvatore and A. Herbert Campbell, and Mrs. Ernest Tammey was assisting in collecting and arranging exhibits of hobbies. The weekly radio program of the National Congress of P. T. A. was called to the attention of the audience.

As the only time during the year a collection is taken the box was passed and the sum amounted to a little over $4. Having a small expense of about $1, the balance is sent to the organization at large. In the future for the class to hold the P. T. A. tea for the coming month there was a tie between the 3rd and 5th grades, which will also each give the flag for two weeks.

At home a bucket of water containing the colored water was taken to the feeding area.

gave a showing of the pictures on Fashions in Foods, which featured the use of citrus fruits and their preparation in salads and desserts. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served in the homecoming room with Miss Ruth Goldsmith as chairman of the committee.

MILK DISTRIBUTED BY CENTRAL SCHOOL SYSTEM

Highland, Feb. 10.—The distribution of milk in the centralized school system for the town of Lloyd was begun last week and at present 70 half pints are used daily at a weekly cost of $12.25. With the money on hand this will insure nourishment to many children until the Easter vacation. Miss Ruth Goldsmith made the report at the February meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association held Monday evening. In the outlying schools 7 half pints were used at Centerville; 2, Vineyard avenue school; 4, Wilklow's corner school; 3, Riverside school; 12, Oakes district school; 1, Elting's Corner. Mrs. C. I. Richards, school nurse, in weighing and measuring the daily observance of the pupils decides upon the children who are in need of the milk.

Miss Goldsmith reported on the amount of money received and the sources as follows: Adonai Lodge, F. & A. M., $10; Court Niles, Catholic Daughters, $10; J. O. U. A. M., $2; W. C. T. U., $5; U. D. Society, $5; Queen Esther Club, $10; Highland Grange, $5; Ida McKinley Council, D. of A., $2; Vineyard Rebekah Lodge, $3; Highland Hose Co., $12.25; Auxiliary Club of Methodist Church, $5; Music Study Club, $5; Evening Reading Circle, $5. The P. T. A. has pledged $25; Lions Club, $10 and the American Legion, $10, which totals $124.25. The president, Mrs. Haynes, gave thanks to each organization that had responded and to many checks received there were notes expressing the privilege of contributing to the worthy cause and wishing it success.

OLIVER TILSON SPEAKS ON STAMP COLLECTING HOBBY

Highland, Feb. 10.—Using his personal experiences and knowledge of stamp collecting Oliver J. Tilson gave an interesting talk before a class in the junior high school Friday afternoon on the subject "King of Hobbies and Hobby of Kings." Mr. Tilson opened his talk with the question "Why do I collect stamps?" and among his reasons he found it a relaxation and an education.

In stamp collecting, he said, one finds it rich in geography, current events, color values, art and nature study, and to add material values it is both an investment and speculation. The second question he answered, "What shall I collect?" and he explained the new sheets of stamps or used ones, general or special issues, pre-cancelled or revenue.

The third question, "How shall I get my stamps?" They can either be gotten by purchase, or through mixtures, or advertised want list, or auctions, or exchange, or local or correspondence clubs; and lastly as to the album, and he advised as to size and kind; catalogue, hinges, magnifying glass, perforator, gauge, stamp tongs, and a stamp club membership, and a stamp paper.

COW AND CHICKEN WERE INSEPARABLE COMPANIONS

"Cluck, cluck, cluck; moo, moo, moo," this language was the basis of a strange and most unusual friendship.

A rather peculiar friendship between a cow and a chicken has been brought to mind by the death of a Rhode Island Red last month on a poultry farm belonging to W. Mills at Tillson.

Several years ago the owner bought a Jersey cow. To the surprise of himself and neighbors, one of his chickens immediately struck up a friendship with the animal, both becoming inseparable companions.

Completely severing all ties from the rest of the flock the chicken spent each night in the cow house, invariably perched on its best friend's back and every morning rode in state to the pasture during the season.

While the cow grazed the chicken kept pace, scratching and feeding, and when the cow chewing period arrived she remained her part of hours and to all appearances, took no notice of the fact.

At home a bucket of water containing the colored water was taken to the feeding area.

$44.50—AND WORTH IT

Collegian Calls Belgium, Dred Will Get Bill

Hamilton, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—Wait until dad shells out for this one. Donald Richon of Garden City, L. I., Colgate University student, thought he'd like to talk to his girl friend so he put in a telephone call. Richon got his party and a telephone bill for $44.50.

The girl friend attends school in Belgium. "I'd do it every day if I had the money," Richon said.

14-Pound Pike

Warrensburg, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—Miss Jean Anselmo, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anselmo, exhibited a 14-pound northern pike today as her bid for local fishing honors. The pike measured 36 inches. Jean caught it while fishing through the ice at Tripp Lake.

S. P. C. A. Dance.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—Buffalonians will dance to pay for the treatment of cats and dogs injured in the city streets. Mrs. John Most, arranging a public dance on behalf of the S. P. C. A., said proceeds would replenish a depleted fund to care for injured pets.

What street has the most telephones in the world?

Perhaps New York City's Broadway is the most "talked about" street in the world because it does the most talking! At any rate, along its eighteen-mile stretch there are some 78,000 telephones—more than on any other single thoroughfare in any of the great cities of the world. More, even, than there are in any one of twelve entire states.

Broadway talks about many things. Along its famous "canyon" in lower Manhattan, it's mostly about business; along its "Great White Way," perhaps more about pleasure.

But whether you live on Broadway or on an elm-shaded street in the tiniest of villages, no matter what time of the day or night you call, no matter how vital or trivial your call may be, we are ready and waiting to carry your voice quickly, clearly and at low cost. New York Telephone Company.

100 Attend Reunion Card Party; N. Y. C. Scene of Gala Affair

The North Roof Garden of the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York city was the scene of a remarkable gathering last Saturday when a card party for the benefit of St. Peter's parish, Rosendale, and associate parishes was given. What had been intended to be a card party where former residents of the town of Rosendale, now residing in the vicinity of New York, might meet and renew acquaintances and play cards, turned out to be one of the largest Rosendale Reunions ever held. More than 100 residents of Rosendale, former residents and descendants, attended the party and turned the affair into an Old Home Reunion.

Some time ago a committee under the honorary chairmanship of the Rev. William J. McDonald of St. Peter's parish, Rosendale; St. Patrick's at Whiteport and Our Lady Help of Christians of High Falls, with Mrs. Edward J. Foley as chairman and Miss Ethel D. Geisler as secretary and treasurer and assisted by an able committee of Rosendale and former Rosendale residents, set out to hold a card party in New York city. Invitations were extended to all residents and former residents of the town who now reside in the vicinity of New York city. At the time it was expected a couple of hundred might attend the party. However, after arrangements had been completed it was found several hundred tickets had been sold.

Enthusiasm Grows

Included on the committee of arrangements were several former Rosendale residents who now reside in New York but who maintain summer homes in Rosendale. The enthusiasm of these folks was unlimited, people were located in the vicinity of New York whose addresses had long been forgotten. The idea of a reunion card party, however, became contagious.

Many people, long absent from Rosendale and even descendants of former residents who had never been in Rosendale but in whose minds still lingered thoughts of the old home town attended the party. Many old friendships were renewed and there were meetings of some of the older residents long separated from former friends.

In fact the party which was originally intended to be a small card party, turned out to be one of the biggest reunions of Rosendale folks ever held in New York. So popular was the event that there is already talk of making it an annual affair.

In addition to those now living in New York and vicinity there were a number of residents who went down to New York for the party and incidentally spoke in such glowing terms of the old home town that in all probabilities there will be many visitors in Rosendale shortly who have not paid their home town a visit in many years or even perhaps since they left the town.

Van Gonsle Brothers ran a special bus from Rosendale to convey the local people to the party and this inditement was responsible for many local people attending who otherwise could not have gone.

A patron list of over 125 families of St. Peter's parish assured the affair of success.

Committee in Charge

On the committee which had the affair in charge were the following people from Rosendale and also New York and vicinity, who assisted the officials of the committee:

Mrs. Phoebe Brett, Miss Frances Callahan, Miss Stella Callahan, Raymond Callahan, the Hon. Edward A. Conger and Mrs. Conger, Mrs. E. H. Clark, Mrs. John Connell, Cornelius Curtin, Mrs. William Delaney, Mrs. John Duffy, Miss Anne Devine, Miss Margaret Fields, Edward J. Foley, Frank Flanagan, Miss Susie Gallagher, Mrs. William Henches, Miss Susan Hornecker, Mrs. Joseph Hill, Mrs. Edward Huben, Edward Huben, Daniel Huben, Mrs. Stephen Huben, Daniel Joseph, William Mahoney, Miss Alice Meaney, Miss Regina Meener, Frank McCardie, Miss Agnes McGrath, William McNamara, Mr. and Mrs. E. Murphy, Joseph O'Connor, Mrs. William Quirk, Miss Alryse Reiter, Mrs. L. G. Rymph, Miss Gertrude Schinnen, Miss Hilda Trandle, Mrs. Peter Urbell, John Van Gonsle, Mrs. George Winters, Wynn Wilson, Miss Catherine Whalen, Miss Beasie Wynn, Miss Julia Wynn.

TRY THIS WAY TO QUICKLY RELIEVE ECZEMA ITCHING

If your skin is broken out with "flery" or "weeping" eczema, you want to relieve the intolerable itching and burning as quickly as possible. Resinol Ointment does this and also combats the irritation caused by eczema—its oily base being ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action.

Wash the affected parts with warm water and Resinol Soap. It is especially suited to tender skin—soaps containing too much alkali may irritate. After washing off scales and crusts, pat dry with a soft cloth. Do not rub.

Apply a thin layer of Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for several hours. Apply again liberally at bedtime leaving on all night. The longer Resinol is in contact with the skin, the more good it does.

Buy Resinol Soap and Ointment in any drug store. Sample free. Write Resinol, Dept. 16, Balto., Md.

BLIGHTED UNIVERSITIES

For 200 years and more, her universities were the pride of Germany and the admiration of the world. The World War ended an era of liberal German scholarship, yet the universities survived. Today, according to reports from official government sources in Berlin, they are going to pieces. Since the Nazi regime came to power, the number of students has fallen one-half. There has been still more serious loss among the faculties. Now the Angriffs, official publication of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Information, suggests closing one-third of the universities because there are so few candidates available for professional chairs.

Prof. Ernst Kriesack, authority on German education, writes: "The existing universities are a cloak that no longer covers the body of the German nation." Only by the abandonment suggested, he thinks, can the remaining institutions of learning "begin over again." Students everywhere have been complaining of the steady degeneration of the teaching staffs.

And why are those staffs shot to pieces? The answer is found in the persecution waged against every scholar in Germany who would not accept the Hitler doctrine and prostitute German learning to Nazi policies. Many of those scholars have died of privation, some of them in prison camps. The ablest of them, those able to escape, are now teaching in the universities of England, America and other countries where thought and learning are still free.

WORSE THAN CENSORS

Pearl Buck, author of "The Good Earth," gave the great American public a good stiff talking to the other day. "Organized censors," she said, "are less a menace than the enormous, stupid, insistent censorship of the mass mind" demanding trashy books, plays and movies. Only five per cent of theatre and movie audiences are intelligent, she thinks. Good plays and good pictures fall because the 95 per cent don't like 'em and the five per cent alone can't support them.

It is all very sad. But surely there are some rays of hope. Observers tell us that good music and art have more followers in this country today than ever before. Librarians say there is a growing demand for good literature along with all the indiscriminating demand for something to kill time. The current theatrical season has seen more good plays well acted—including an interesting Shakespearean revival—than in many recent seasons.

When fewer persons could read, the market for printed rubbish was naturally smaller. The morons probably will always be with us. It seems less important to belabor them for their "enormous stupidity" than to encourage the intelligent and literate group to make the most of its talents and opportunities.

DIPLOMATIC SIMPLICITY

The dress of American diplomats in foreign capitals was an important matter from the very start of this nation. In 1790 Jefferson, as secretary of state, issued regulations permitting the naval uniform of the day: "Deep blue coat with red facings, lining and cuffs, the cuffs slashed, and a standing collar; a red waistcoat and blue breeches, yellow buttons with a red anchor and black cockades and small swords."

There were other regulations through the years, with the fashions becoming more elegant. Then in 1832, when men's clothing was nearing the apex of ugliness, there was a change of feeling in the matter and diplomats were ordered to wear only the "simple dress of an American citizen." That was the rule until George H. Davis, ambassador to the Court of St. James, in the early 1820's, surprised both the British and his own countrymen by appearing in a suit of blue cloth.

Now another ruling has been made. Above breeches, gold braid and fancy uniforms are again out. An executive order forbids "any uniform or official costume not previously authorized by Congress." This may be at the cost of picturesque and color, but is more in character for representatives of Uncle Sam abroad.

FINDERS, RETURNERS

A woman lost her purse, containing $20. Another woman found it and took it to her home, hoping to be able to restore it to the owner. The family went into conference—the father and mother and four boys, ages 13, 7 and twins of 12. "We all felt pretty bad about the folks that lost it and began looking at the lost and found ads right away. The boys were unanimous that we should give the money to the Red Cross for the flood victims if we didn't find the owner."

The owner advertised, and the episode ended happily for all. When word got around, and a reporter appeared at the door of the finder's home, she said that much ado was being made about nothing. The childish saying "Losers weepers, finders keepers" is no part of that family's code. Neither is the idea of getting something for nothing, or gaining from some one else's bad luck. There are lots of families like that, lots of fine boys—and girls, too—who would have done as these four did. It is well to make a little ado about them now and then.

That Body of Yours

By James D. Burton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 House Dust Cause of Asthma

A youth of seventeen living in a village thirty miles from a large city, suffered greatly at home with asthma, but was free of all symptoms during any stay in the city. He was not on a farm—no horses, cattle, dogs or cats—from which he could get anything to cause the symptoms. Naturally he wanted to go to the city to live where he could be free of the asthmatic attacks and so get somewhere in life.

By a change of circumstances the family built a new house in the village and for some "unaccountable" reason, the boy had no further attacks of asthma. There was no change in the manner of life but much of the old furniture—rugs, mattresses, curtains—were disposed of, as were also various other articles of furniture. What had brought relief to this youth?

In the old home there were certain dusts that irritated nose, throat, and lining of the large and also the very small bronchial tubes. When this lining gets irritated it pours out liquid just as when the lining of your nose gets irritated and you have what is called nasal catarrh. When this liquid gets thick and becomes mucous it is naturally harder for it to be removed and so a tiny plug forms which causes the spasm or asthmatic attack until it is removed.

That many children and young people are "sensitive" to house dust has been known for some time. Dr. R. A. Cooke pointing out this fact to his fellow research workers in the Journal of Immunology in 1922.

Dr. Henry N. Pratt, Boston, in the Journal of Allergy, reports his study of seventy-one children who suffered with asthma during the entire year, not those who had the asthmatic attacks only during the various pollen seasons (summer or June fever or the fall or hay fever). The ages ranged from one to twelve years.

The dust was obtained by vacuum cleaner and floors from seven typical homes, was collected, weighed, and extracted by means of ether, sterilized and bottled. The report of Dr. Pratt's study of these 71 asthmatic children states:

"By means of skin tests it has been determined that about 75 per cent of children between the ages of one and twelve years who suffer with asthma all the year round are sensitive to house dust extract."

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS When Count Von Vronski, who is blackmailing Anne Phelps with love letters, is shot dead in her studio, three persons are nearby: Anne, Clara Bigelow and Karanekoff, the diamond thief. They hide the corpse during a party then Bigelow, and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move it to Vronski's room. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, a wealthy play who had Vronski, and his wife Lorna disappears. Thinking to make the police suspect her, Anne and Bigelow find Lorna, realize she's innocent, then visit Austrelitz.

Chapter 32

A Cryptic Utterance

"SO," said the doctor, thoughtfully summing up the report of Anne and Bigelow, "she didn't come to the studio and she wasn't the woman in the pink coat who went to Vronski's apartment?"

"No," answered Anne. "Then," said Austrelitz, "Karanekoff must have killed him."

"Or the baroness?" suggested Bigelow.

"The baroness?" The doctor regarded him curiously.

"She was invited to the studio party. She might have made two trips the first to shoot Vronski, the second to pretend she hadn't been there before and to see what we had done about the murder. She was the only one who kept remarking on Vronski's continued absence and thinking odd things. Maybe she knew why he wasn't there. And maybe she'd liberally treated that scene at the Colony next day knowing we must have got the body back to the apartment. No one else could have, you see."

Austrelitz frowned in deep thought. Anne stared at Bigelow.

"But how could she have got the body from the drawer in the bedroom? Did she know it was there?" Austrelitz asked.

Anne shook her head. "She'd never been in the studio before."

"Could she have been there with Vronski without your knowledge?" "Impossible. Vronski never had the key," declared Anne.

"I don't know," answered Anne. "I wasn't paying much heed to anything at the party. And Vronski had introduced a number of them to Karanekoff in the bar at Mader's—before the party began. So she already knew them when they arrived there."

"If we only knew what Karanekoff knows about that night," sighed the doctor.

"We might question her?" suggested Bigelow.

"I'm afraid she'd tell you only what she wanted you to know," he answered, smiling faintly. "She called on me today, by the way."

"Oh?" said Anne interestedly. "You may remember I promised to dine with her tonight, but this morning I realized that would be impossible, so I went round some flowers with a note to make suitable apologies and break the engagement."

"Was out most of the afternoon—called in consultation over a very interesting case at one of the hospitals. When I returned, she was waiting for me in my private office."

"In your private office?" repeated Bigelow, in surprise.

"Yes. She had persuaded Miss Weston to let her wait there as the living room was full. She said they would be ill or she would not come to see me and that she had a horror of germs. She said if she sat in there she would imagine them breathing them out by the thousands and she would certainly have hysterics."

Anne smiled.

"Was The Gun Silent?" "WHAT?" she asked. Bigelow.

"To know all about the new theory of the crime that I had mentioned on the telephone yesterday. I explained that we wondered if a fifth person might not have managed to gain entrance to the studio and shoot Vronski while the rest of you were out of the room. She thought it over for a long time and then she said she would try to find out for us."

"You mean she said she would try to find out for us?" "Yes, she said she would try to find out for us."

"Then both she and the world have benefited from the fact that she found the strength to lift herself out of difficult conditions. I sometimes think that is the Scheme of Things—and why the world is in such a chaotic state. We're here to work things out. Let's fight our way up. To escape it, we can."

YOUR INCOME TAX
 No. 13
 Exemption Allowed State Employees

The compensation of officers and employees of a state or any political subdivision thereof, which is paid from public funds of the state or political subdivision, as distinguished from amounts collected from individuals or private corporations, if the services of such officers or employees are rendered in connection with activities which constitute the discharge of an essential governmental function, as distinguished from a proprietary function, is exempt from Federal income tax. The compensation of such officers and employees is subject to Federal income tax if their services were rendered in connection with the exercise of a proprietary function. For example, the compensation of the governor of a State, the mayor of a city, councilmen, board of aldermen, public-school teachers, firemen, and policemen is not subject to Federal income tax. The compensation of such officers and employees whose services are connected with the regulation by the State of insurance companies or banks, which is paid from funds of the companies, being regulated, is not exempt from Federal income tax. Compensation received by employees removed beforehand unknown to Anne.

"We never thought of that!" cried Bigelow, sitting up.

"No," admitted Austrelitz. "But then we hadn't the same incentive. She was actually in the room where the gun was supposed to be."

"But who could have removed the gun?" asked Anne.

"When had you seen it last?" asked the doctor.

Anne thought hard. "I don't know. The last time I went for cigarettes, I suppose, I kept them in the same drawer."

"When do you remember going to the drawer for cigarettes?"

"Not for several weeks. You see, I usually fill all the boxes and don't go to the drawer again until the supply in the boxes runs low."

"And have many people been in and out of the studio in those weeks?"

"Dozens," sighed Anne.

"So really the gun might have been taken a week or two before the night of the murder—without your knowing?"

"Yes, I suppose so," Anne looked troubled.

"Which makes the case look much less dark against Karanekoff," said Bigelow.

"And increases our number of suspects by dozens of my friends," said Anne.

"They were silent for a moment or two, each busy with his own thoughts. Each busy with his own thoughts."

"Did Karanekoff have any more to say that was interesting?" asked Bigelow.

"Yes. She said that in her opinion we were wasting time over this problem that might be much better employed. She said that some of us of much importance in the world, to say the least, were being lost."

"Please don't bother—" begged Anne.

"As a matter of fact," grinned Bigelow, "we've had one scratch meal today. It consisted of soup. I'll admit that there was everything in it that could be in soup, but I think I should prefer a proper dinner tonight. If you don't mind, thanks just the same."

"Well, we'll have a drink in any case," said the doctor. "If you like old-fashioned, we'll take them rather well here."

"Adore them," Anne assured him enthusiastically.

Looks came to the door and was instructed to prepare the drinks.

"It would be so tedious."

"I suppose you've not had an answer yet from your colleague in Paris?" asked Bigelow. "About Karanekoff, I mean?"

"No. It will probably come tomorrow, but it was only a routine inquiry and I don't expect to learn much from it. You know, one reads and hears a great deal about these women like Karanekoff but in the end one learns that they are more or less ordinary people who are just a little more than average."

"Wouldn't they?" asked Anne, surprised.

"Would she have developed her artistry, do you think? Would she have become a famous dancer?"

"Probably not," Anne admitted.

"Then both she and the world have benefited from the fact that she found the strength to lift herself out of difficult conditions. I sometimes think that is the Scheme of Things—and why the world is in such a chaotic state. We're here to work things out. Let's fight our way up. To escape it, we can."

WASHINGTON—Eighteen years ago President Wilson came back from Paris and laid on the senate's door-step a lusty war baby called the league of nations. Senator Borah of Idaho led a quartet of senators in opposition to adopting it. Today the league is a virtually a dead issue.

Today from a dozen sources come proposals that the authority of the supreme court be limited or circumvented. Many readers of President Roosevelt's messages see in them a warning to the court to cooperate or face loss of its domain. Senator Borah, in a nation-wide broadcast, says in effect something like this:

"President Roosevelt is a great fellow, and doing his job with good intentions. Perhaps with him the court is not so desperately necessary to protect the people. But year in and year out it is better to have a court out of reach even of the President. Right now, it is said, a man with Roosevelt's power but without his good will, could destroy the rights of the people. Yet if the President and congress want power not given under the constitution let them go to the people and ask for it."

Already a quartet of senators have indicated they would willingly go to the country on the Borah platform of amendment rather than circumvention. Others have indicated they would take the next step, opposing an amendment. They suspect Borah would take that step too, and point to a sentence omitted from his prepared address but added extemporaneously as he closed: "Let us move with caution in making a change in the fundamental law."

Harlow's Kiss
 JEAN HARLOW kissed svelte Senator Reynolds of North Carolina the other day as a publicity stunt but put a new gleam in the senatorial eye. We had read in a Hollywood column that Miss Harlow's makeup man complained sorrowfully that she always spoiled her own makeup and that of her kiss-ees by kissing with her mouth open. "Does she?" we asked Senator Reynolds.

"Ah, delicious," he said, in such rapturous recollection that it could be surmised that she does kiss with her mouth open, or should we say, lips parted. But the senator wouldn't say.

President's Room
 THE red and gold and mahogany and mirrored President's room in the capitol, off the senate chamber, no longer is open to tourists. Newspaper men and senators use it as a joint conference room during sessions but after that a railing is put across the entrance. Tourists now may not look down the famous "corridor of mirrors" made by facing two huge mirrors on opposite sides of the room.

The trouble was that tourists just would sit on the frail arms of the furniture. Closing it was quite a setback to the guides who used to lead their charges into the room and deliver a tip-wringing lecture on how Lincoln was the first President to use it. No President uses it nowadays.

County "Y" Night.
 Through the efforts of Burton Streeter and the cooperation of Robert W. Sisson, general secretary of the Kingston Y. M. C. A., the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union will have open night at the "Y" on Wednesday, February 24. The facilities of the local "Y" will be given over to the Endeavorers, and will include a swim in the pool; all planning to attend are asked to bring bathing suits, towels. Arrangements are being made by Burton Streeter, Edward Safford, Irwin Thomas and Mr. Sisson. Part of the evening's program will feature a speaker, refreshments. All Christian Endeavor members in the county are invited and should register with Irwin Thomas, 151 Smith avenue, before February 19.

Squadron at Clintondale.
 The Flying Squadron will have charge of the evening church service in the Clintondale Friends' Church Sunday. The service will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Nelson H. Lewis will deliver the main address. Societies desiring a visit from the Flying Squadron should write to Mary L. F. Langwick at New Paltz.

Ponckhockie Service.
 Sunday morning the Ponckhockie Congregational Society celebrated "Christian Endeavor Sunday" by taking charge of the church service. Those taking part were Beverly Williams, Ruth Parslow, Harry Rappleyea and Nelson Lewis. Music was furnished by the Endeavor choir and I don't expect to learn much from it. You know, one reads and hears a great deal about these women like Karanekoff but in the end one learns that they are more or less ordinary people who are just a little more than average.

Cornell Line Made Roundout the Famous Harbor on Hudson

Rondout has held the distinction of being the largest steamboat harbor along the Hudson river from New York to Albany; still holding that position even though the boom days of the steamboat have passed into history. And one of the reasons that this old section of Kingston held first place and played an important part in the history-making days of the old Hudson river, was the large fleet of side-wheel steamboats owned and operated by the Cornell Company, especially during the years from 1847 to 1920.

The beginning of the great Cornell fleet was found in the towboats "Mohagan" and "Emerald," which were used for towing the Delaware and Hudson Coal Company barges to New York. The next towboats added to the growing fleet were the "Norwich" and the "James Madison," and thus began a period that was to see traffic on the Hudson river increase to great proportions, and records of all sorts set up for coming generations to endeavor to equal.

But alas, the evolution of time brought changes, and gradually, one by one, the old sidewheelers steamed out of the harbor of Rondout on their last voyage, being replaced by stern propelled tugboats. Today these grand old boats, about which many stories and interesting facts are found, are no more, all having been broken up and vanished from view, but not gone from the memories of old steamboat men of the past days of the Hudson river.

The following list of the old sidewheel towboats that comprised the Cornell line, the largest fleet on the river, has been assembled by George W. Murdock:

Elks to Honor Their Past Rulers

On Thursday night, February 11, an extra special meeting for members of the local Elks is planned at the Elks' Club. On this occasion, which is set aside especially for that purpose, all living past exalted rulers will be honored. Past exalted rulers night is a yearly custom, at which time past exalted rulers conduct the meeting and take the places of honor in the stead of existing officers.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the comfort and entertainment of all paid up members of the organization. A roast beef dinner will be served to all members present immediately after the meeting. A special entertainment secured from New York city will be staged. This special feed and entertainment is open to all members presenting paid up membership cards. A lively and entertaining evening is promised to all attending the affair, which will be strictly informal.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Feb. 10.—Anne and Peter Leaycraft were the guests of their mother, Mrs. Julia Leaycraft, over the week-end. Carl and Hans Schleicher visited their father, Eugene Schleicher, over the week-end. Johnny Stowell broke his wrist when his bicycle collided with a tree.

A special program will be Woodstock's observance of the world's day of prayer in the Dutch Reformed Church on Friday at 2:30 p. m. The Missionary Societies of the M. E., Lutheran and Reformed Churches are cooperating in this union program.

Thursday's cottage prayer meeting of the M. E. Church will be held, as last week, in the home of Mrs. Zella Lasher.

On Friday evening a business meeting and social hour for the young people will be held in the Shady Hall.

Mrs. G. C. C. Layman entertained a few friends at tea in her home last week.

Mrs. Harvey I. Todd served tea to a few friends on Tuesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Summers, Carol and Mary Adeline are now in San Antonio, Texas, where they plan to stay for some time.

Miss Alice Wardwell has returned from South Carolina and plans to spend the rest of the winter in Woodstock and New York city.

At the meeting of the Choral Society, held in the home of Miss Elsa Kimball on Saturday, the following officers were elected: Alice Owen, president; Elsa Kimball, vice president; and Mrs. Bessie Cohn, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. R. Bruce Whelan visited Woodstock friends on Sunday, visiting scenes of winter sports activity.

Chief Justice J. B. Whitfield of the Florida supreme court has sworn in three Florida governors.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By Associated Press

Life on the Farm

Wayland, N. Y.—In support of his assertion that life on the farm—his farm, anyway—is not dull, Harry Shaver attests to the following occurrences in the last nine months:

The family cat captured and raised five baby rabbits;

His four-year-old cow gave birth to twin calves with a combined weight of 107 pounds;

His potatoes won first prize at the state farm show;

And one of his leghorns laid an egg measuring 6½ by 8½ inches.

How to Conversation

Evansville, Ind.—F. M. Logan, whom friends call nonchalant, ended

a telephone call with: "I'll have to hang up. It seems we're having a storm."

Half an hour later, he called back to explain: "Awfully sorry about hanging up, but that storm I mentioned blew the roof off my house."

Small Change

Chicago—From a quantitative standpoint at least, three robbers obtained quite a loot. Brandishing machine guns, the trio overpowered the driver of an armored car and escaped with 10,000 pennies.

Foot Work

Clovis, N. M.—Jack Hinson, 200-pound cowboy from Fort Sumner, will enter the New Mexico-Texas A.

A. U. boxing tournament here if officials will permit him to wear his boots in the ring.

"All the fightin' I ever did was with my boots on," Hinson explained. "And I'm not a-gonna take any chances with them low-heeled slippers."

Buffalo, N. Y.—Harry I. Good, associate superintendent of secondary schools here, does not believe automobile driving is advisable as a high school course.

"Safe driving," he said, "is largely a matter of horse sense and there is no substitute for that."

Good said schools already try to inculcate good judgment in their pupils. He can't see how adding the mechanics of driving to the curriculum could help.

Britain continues ruling the wave and everybody else continues waiving the rules.

Townsend Club Meeting

The Townsend Club will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Mechanics' Hall. It is important that all members be present. Visitors are welcome.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Like a Go

The liver should pour out two quarts of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks black.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more powerful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two quarts of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harsh, loose, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Sincerely refuse anything else. Dr.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edna Bundy of Creek Locks. The hostess will be Mrs. Emma Dession. New members and visitors are welcome.

The Girls' League for Service met at the home of Miss Ruth Hotelling on Thursday evening of last week. After the business and devotional parts of the meeting all enjoyed a program presented by the various members in connection with three prominent days of this month—Lincoln's Birthday, Valentine's Day and Washington's Birthday. Following the program refreshments were served by Ruth Hotelling. Those present were Florence Helyea, Gertrude Trevisky, Carrie Hrodsky, Marlon and Natalie Phillips, Shirley Brown, Helen West and Ruth Hotelling.

Those who attended the senior play in the Kingston High School Friday night were Raymond Le Fever, Shirley Brown, Ernest Grafe, Winkar Dugan and Ruth Hotelling.

The Rosendale Grange is sponsoring a bazaar and dance in their hall in Rosendale on Thursday, February 11. Everyone is welcome to come and have a good time as well as meet friends, who are sure to be there. There will be no admission charges.

Mrs. E. J. Diefold, Mrs. Frank McElrath and son, Tommy, were Kingston shoppers on Friday of last week.

Miss Virginia Coutant met with an accident on Friday evening while sleigh riding. She was taken to the hospital and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Sunday morning about four o'clock the new bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kelder burned to the ground.

The Missionary Society will hold its annual all day sewing bee at the home of Mrs. J. Yunker on Thursday, February 18. Anyone having any material to donate may leave it at Mrs. Hotelling's. Everyone attending is asked to bring a covered dish for dinner.

The Girls' League for service will hold a combination party commemorating Lincoln and Washington's birthdays and also Valentine's Day on Friday, February 26, at 7:30 in the church. Refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome.

In packing and forwarding of merchandise large quantities of excelsior are ordinarily indispensable. Materials used in packing wares frequently represent fire hazards.

Man Of Steel

Simple Life, Hard Work, Clean Jokes Suit Stalin

This is the third in a series of articles on the life of Joseph Stalin, Russia's uncrowned, self-made ruler.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Feature Service Writer

New York, Feb. 10.—All communists know Joseph Stalin's policies, but few are acquainted with the man behind those policies. Only twice in more than 12 years has he broadcast a speech to his people.

Stalin intensely dislikes personal publicity. He believes attention should be centered on a person's aims and achievements rather than on his characteristics. It is the work that counts, not the fact that a man happens to like caviar for breakfast. This is the code of the communist party.

Stalin's picture hangs in most homes and public places throughout the vast empire, but few persons have seen him, as he rarely appears in public.

His Joke With Newman

Only a few weeks ago he kept under cover so long that rumors got about that he was dead. When The Associated Press correspondent in Moscow sent a note to the great man, calling attention to the rumors, Stalin replied jokingly, advising the newspaper man to believe the reports and not disturb him "in the calm of the other world."

A strong sense of humor is one of the characteristics of this man noted for grimness and ruthlessness. He laughs frequently, uproariously.

Prefers Plain Clothes

There is a good deal of the boy in Stalin, and he laughs most often at the unusual or unexpected. But he hates anything not clean. He once severely reprimanded an editor who published something that Stalin considered obscene.

Simple and conservative in his habits, Stalin still sticks to plain uniforms such as he wore as a soldier—a khaki tunic with the collar but-

DICTATOR AT EASE

Puffing his potent pipe (in which he smokes crushed cigarettes), Stalin confers informally with party aides. A white linen uniform for summer is his only departure from military khaki.

He smokes nothing but a pipe—and what a pipe! It is ancient and charred and scarred and strong. But it is an honest, friendly sort of pipe. He doesn't smoke ordinary pipe-tobacco in it, but fills it by breaking up cigarettes. As for other habits, he is said to be temperate in all things—excepting work.

He used to be a fine horseman and played much polo. Wild boar hunting was another of his pastimes. These things have given way to motor-touring; he likes to take the wheel from his chauffeur and spin over country roads.

Likes Black Chessmen

As might be expected, Stalin is keen about chess and formerly played much with old cronies. He plays a good game, both offensive and defensive, and is vigorous in his attack. He always wants the black pieces. Why? That's another Stalin puzzle.

Stalin loves the theatre, has a particular leaning towards opera, and is also a movie fan. He is fond of music, mostly symphonic. He is a great reader, history being his first choice, and after that philosophy. Stalin himself has written many books which critics say will live in Marxist literature.

A Night Worker

Much of Stalin's work is done at night. He likes to get to bed about 4 o'clock in the morning, but he is usually back in his office again after a few hours of rest.

The burdens of state, heavy as they are, do not prevent Stalin from taking a paternal interest in the affairs of his people. If an aviator, for example, scores some outstanding achievement, he gets a personal letter of commendation from his chief.

If a plane crashes and the flyer leaves a widow and children, Stalin personally investigates the plight of the family, expressing sympathy and possibly arranging for their care. It is said that he follows such cases for years.

HERO AND WORSHIPERS

The man of steel pauses during a congress of collective farmers to autograph photographs of the meeting for women workers from Soviet wheat fields.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 9.—Clyde Everett of Lake Katrine was numbered among the former residents who called on friends in Shokan Sunday. The Everett family home for many years was the present Normal Fortson farm on the mountain road.

Miss Lizzie Giles is spending the winter with relatives in Poughkeepsie.

The February meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church was held last Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage. The ladies at this meeting decided to hold an old fashioned social in the church basement on Friday evening, February 19. Costumes suitable to the occasion may be worn by those attending this affair. It was also voted to make a contribution to the Red Cross flood relief fund.

Mrs. Josephine Brinker, who has employment in Poughkeepsie, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baptiste Nadal, of the Heights section.

Fresh eggs are bringing 25 cents a dozen when taken in trade at the local stores. A number of poultrymen and farmers are complaining of their unsatisfactory egg yield as well as the disproportionate cost of grain for feeding their flocks. Eggs should bring at least 50 cents a dozen to insure a profit at this time.

Lawrence Tompkins, nationally known sculptor, has gone to Florida after a sojourn of several weeks at the Fortson farmhouse.

Allen Rose, well known Olive Bridge cattle man, was a business caller in the village center Saturday. Mr. Rose has been practically laid up with the grip and complications for the past few weeks.

Several members of the Chase family came up to their hunkaw colony on Winchell Mountain for the week-end.

Fred Weeks, Sr., mountain road coal dealer, is doling up the local scenery these days with his new heavy-duty truck. Mr. Weeks has enjoyed a prosperous season with his business thus far in the winter.

Memor Markle, Sr., member of the Olive board of assessors, is recovering from a severe attack of pleurisy at his home, "Twin Trees."

February 8, 1937. Awards made by Ashokan Commission No. 1, included the following: John J. Boice (Bishop's Falls mill property) $112,000.14; Ephraim M. Bishop, $22,720; Eleanor L. Stewart, $22,720; Walter & Delaware Bluestone, $22,720; Jerome H. Buck, $22,720.

Of these cases the most interesting was that of Mr. Boice, whose will-nesses had testified to a value of $500,000 on account of possibilities of power development from the falls.

Mr. Buck, from whose Yale quarry the city had taken immense quantities of bluestone for building the Ashokan Dam, had placed a value of $1,336,000 on his property. Mrs. Stewart's claim was for land that included a large sandbank from which the reservoir contractors secured material for making concrete blocks.

Norval Fortson, who has been employed in New York city since fall, has disposed of his flock of sheep. Miss Denise Lynch is caring for the Fortson farmhouse.

Residents of the twin villages are glad that Harrison Gridley, teacher of the Ashokan school for 10 years, and Mrs. Gridley have taken up their residence at the Charles DuBois farmhouse at DuBois Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nodine, who formerly resided in one of the Winchell buildings here, are now occupying one of the city's houses below the aerator park. The family vacated the old Stewart house which more recently was burned by members of the reservoir force. The Stewart mansion, one of the few residences in this section built with a mansard roof, was situated a short distance below the spillway.

Mrs. Denis T. Lynch of the upper mountain road is spending some time in New York city.

The concrete road through the village was a scare of ice Monday as a result of the sleet storm. Mr. Tremper, the star route mail carrier from Margaretville, reported a score of cars halted by the icy conditions at Pine Hill. The eastbound mail arrived here an hour and a half late Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bloom and daughter, Janette, of Newburgh, called on some of their old Shokan friends Sunday afternoon while en route home from the skiing at Phoenicia.

John H. James, who died in Geneva, was a brother of the late Edwin F. James of Shokan. Mr. James for many years was a valued employee of the home office of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Joe Bennett, genial automobile salesman of Poughkeepsie, spent Sunday with friends in Shokan.

Chairman Julia Winchell of the Red Cross desires to thank all who helped make the local flood relief campaign a success. The Olive field workers were Mrs. E. Clayton Bratcher, Mrs. Monroe Davis, Miss Edna Longard and Mrs. Chester Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weeks, Jr., spent the week-end with relatives here.

Shokan residents are of course greatly pleased that the new road between West Hurley and Kingston is about to materialize after years of talking and planning. The pleasing prospect will perhaps serve to make more desirable the present route with its numerous curves and plague of chuk-holes. There is a persistent rumor here in the town that the proposed four-lane road will eventually be continued through northern or make his throat sore, "because he has never smoked gun in his life."

which would bring the route to the east of the boulevard and nearer the foothills of the neighboring mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Nadel returned recently from a three weeks' cruise to Panama, Cuba and other countries. The young couple report having had the time of their lives on the trip. The Nadsels last year enjoyed a motor trip to California and return.

Mrs. Mary Matthews, who died in Southern Pines Friday night, was born and brought up here, her old home having been what is known as the Thankful Elmendorf farm which is still owned by the Matthews family of Kingston.

BLUE MOUNTAIN

Blue Mountain, Feb. 10.—Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 a. m. by the pastor, the Rev. E. C. Duryee. Young people's meeting at 7:30 p. m. Harry Freiligh, leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill and Mr. and Mrs. William Layman spent Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moore.

Mrs. Harry Freiligh spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. William Hommel.

Mrs. Capple spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Peter Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hommel spent Thursday evening with Claude Hommel and family.

Marwood Myer of Haines Falls called on his uncle, Peter Moore, on Friday.

Mrs. Harry Freiligh called on Mrs. Henry Sheeley of Russell street, Saugerties, on Friday afternoon.

Ernest Van Strunbury of Quarryville spent Friday afternoon with Peter Moore.

Joan Carelas spent Saturday with Beverly Hommel.

Mrs. Harry and Mr. Slater of Ulster Park called on Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moore on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Myer and grandchildren, Clayton and Carolyn, and Harford Myer and friend, Miss Cecilia Healey of Kingston, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freiligh on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schoenmaker and niece, Beverly Hommel, called on Mrs. Emma Snyder of West Saugerties on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Freiligh called on their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moore, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hommel and daughter, Beverly, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Frances Hommel and children of Saugerties.

Melvin Schoenmaker spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wolsten.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller of Catskill called on Mr. and Mrs. William Layman on Sunday.

SKI AMERICA FIRST

Few sports in America have received so sudden, so complete, and so enthusiastic an accolade as has skiing. And small wonder too. Few thrills in the world compare with this exciting and healthful sport and there is so much ideal skiing country within easy reach of thickly settled centers that even the city man can enjoy it.

The skier shown here is wearing a sensible outfit for down hill skiing. It consists of a double-breasted wind jacket of lightweight cotton gaberdine, under which is worn a flannel shirt. The plus fours are of wool gaberdine and the Norwegian cap has ear flaps which may be folded down. Smooth finish materials are important for sliding as snow will not adhere to them.

Gabardine wind mits are worn over wool Norwegian gloves which are in an interesting pattern.

A favorite among skiers is this boldly patterned plaid flannel shirt.

A cable stitch sweater has always been popular among skiers. The narrow width muffler is warm but not bulky.

The wool head band is suitable for a moderate weather, but a Swiss or Norwegian cap is better on colder days.

Heavy knee length wool hose in a cable stitch pattern go well with the cable stitch sweater. Ankle length socks of heavy ribbed wool offer additional warmth and protection.

An excellent model of a Norwegian ski boot. The boxed toe aids in controlling the skis and the metal band about the sole reinforces the foot.

The man who cannot laugh at his own mistakes ought not to marry a flapper, play the market, or invest in lottery tickets.

The visitor called at the Brushville library:
Visitor—May I have the 'Letters of Charles Lamb?'
Clerk (pleasantly)—You're in the wrong building, Mr. Lamb. The post office is just across the street.

Read it or not.
The easternmost point of the United States is West Quoddy Head, near Eastport, Maine. The westernmost point is Cape Alva, Washington.

A meek little man was in court for a minor offense.
Judge—Were you ever in trouble before?
Meek Little Man (hesitating)—Well, er—er, I kept a library book too long once and was fined ten cents.

But these sexy young moderns never know the delight of an old-fashioned kiss flavored with nothing but girl.

Tommy, who had no great liking for soap and water, was observed by his father washing his forefinger of his right hand.

Father—What's the idea of washing only one finger?

Tommy—The boy next door has asked me to come and feel his baby sister's new tooth.

The Newer Version
"Where are you going my pretty maid?"

"I'm going a-milking, sir," she said. "And who is that fellow by your side?"

"He'll turn on the spigots, sir," she cried.

Stranger—I hear you have a fine cow now. What will you take for her?

Farmer (cautiously)—Wait a minute. Are you the new tax assessor or has my cow been killed on the railroad?

After talking with the wife over the phone a man always places the receiver carefully back on the hook to avoid the impression he slammed it.

Joe—Where do you bathe?
Rural Miss—In the spring.
Joe—I didn't ask you when.

Life brings us many worries and cares, most of which are none of our business.

Mother—A telegram from Junior, dear.
Father—Well, did he pass the examination this time?
Mother—No, but he is almost at the top of the list of those who failed.

It is a cinch that our younger generation are learning their language in the school of knock-knocks.

Customer—Is this a second-hand shoe?
Salesman—Yes.
Customer—Good. I want a good second hand for my watch.

Opportunity often knocks but some people are too busy knocking the other fellow to hear it.

Friend—My son is a jack-of-all-trades. What shall I do with him?
Man—Buy him a drug store.

A salesman who makes 20 calls a day will do more business than the one who plays pool all afternoon.

Father—Why were you kept in after school?
Son—I didn't know where the Azores were.

Father—Well, in the future just remember where you put things.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Easy to Take." Here's the enlightening tale of a couple of gentlemen who make a paying racket from a kiddie hour on the radio. They fool everybody except themselves and the girl who loves one of them but much excitement and humor comes into play before the show reaches a logical conclusion. Several child stars cavort in favorable fashion and the adult part of the cast offers Marshall Hunt, Eugene Pallette and John Howard.

Kington: "Hide Away Girl" and "Fugitive in the Sky." Gangsters, sophisticates, playboys and playgirls gather together in the first film, with Martha Raye starred in her own right for the first time. The plot is built on a flimsy case of mistaken identity but the songs are fair, Miss Raye acts her craziest and her cast includes Shirley Ross, Robert Cummings, Monroe Owsley, Ray Walker and Ed Brophy.

Kington: "Fugitive in the Sky" is a story of murder in the clouds with a G-man aboard tracking down another criminal, a newspaper reporter and a cab full of passengers. It's pretty brisk melodrama with Jean Muir, Warren Hull, Gordon Oliver and Mary Treen, Nick Grindle directed.

Orpheum: "The Charge of the Light Brigade." Fact and fiction are welded into a romantic and historical picture at the downtown theatre, a drama that climaxes itself in the famed charge of the Light Brigade, wherein a small British fighting unit throws itself against unequal numbers and hammers away until every man is killed. And for romance, the play offers two brothers in love with the same girl with bravery and sacrifice resulting from this tragic triangle. Done with a sweep and a color well worth seeing, this play is one of the best of last year's productions and a cast of thousands is headed by Errol Flynn and Olivia DeHavilland.

Broadway: "That Girl From Paris." Lily Pons of the Metropolitan is starred along with Gene Raymond and Jack Oakie in this musical show that reaches for the heights in entertainment and almost makes the goal.

The story of a temperamental French girl who comes to America with some very definite ideas of her own, the picture explains and describes her methods when she arrives upon an alien shore. Miss Pons sings beautifully and is becoming a satisfactory actress as well but much of the play's success is due to the comedy supplied by Herman Bing and Mischa Auer. Here is song, romance and humor presented by RKO-Radio with songs ranging from the "Blue Danube" to five new songs by Arthur Schwartz.

Kington: Same.
Orpheum: Same.

High Falls, Feb. 9.—The Mothers' Club will hold its February meeting this week Thursday, the 11th at 3 o'clock. After the regular business meeting a party will follow.

A covered dish social held in the basement of the church Thursday evening netted over $14 for the Ladies' Aid.

Lou Sherman is again at his bungalow here.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Pettibone entertained Thursday night in honor of Mrs. Pettibone's birthday.

Several High Falls ladies motored to New York Saturday.

All ladies of this vicinity are urged to attend the world day of prayer service to be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Snyder Friday, February 12, at 3 p. m.

The Rev. and Mrs. Clarence S. Howard motored to his home in New Jersey Friday to attend the funeral of his grandfather.

Mrs. W. F. Atkins, in company with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Story, of Ulster Park, left a few days ago for Newport News, Va., to visit Mrs. Story's daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goodmans.

Postals from Mrs. Mary Beach and Miss Fayne Elmsford report their safe arrival in Florida after a fine trip.

High Falls responded beautifully to the request by the Red Cross for vegetables and fruit for the destitute in food areas. Boxes of warm clothing were also donated.

Many are suffering from heavy colds caused by sleet and rain and extreme changes in temperature.

The Rev. A. F. Marlier was heartily welcomed by his congregation at St. John's Church Sunday.

He has been enjoying a vacation in the islands.

Carleton Church has removed his furniture from the Rev. Sherman house and stored it for the present.

Herbert Snyder and family of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnhart and family called on Mrs. J. N. Barnhart Sunday afternoon.

Exactly 1,274 members are growing points through the California teachers' retirement fund.

Young Judeans Elect Officers

Monday night the Kingston Young Judeans elected officers for the ensuing year at their meeting in the rooms at the Congregation Agudas Achim synagogue, Union street, as follows:

President, Harry Sperling; vice president, Florence Rafalowsky; secretary, Shirley Berman; treasurer, Charles Teitelman; publicity chairman, Robert Stone.

Committees were named for the coming year. Blanche Navy and Florence Rafalowsky will have charge of the entertainment.

Plan for Supper
Ashokan, Feb. 10.—The Willing Workers of the Ashokan M. E. Church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Floyd Merriworth on Thursday at which time plans were made for a supper to be held in the church hall on Wednesday, March 17. A delicious menu has been planned.

An attractive dining room has a door painted deep blue, almost black. Chairs are upholstered in blue leather, with the same shade carried out in window, door, baseboard, and cornice trim.

Pulver Unseats Sheldon as Top Average Bowler in Hudson Loop

Colonial Ladies Play Middletown At Emerick Alleys

Kingston's newly organized women's bowling team, the Colonial City Ladies, made their second appearance of the season Friday night when they met the strong Middletown State Hospital women's outfit at Emerick's Recreation at 8:30.

The local feminine ten pin artists lost their first match to Hudson by more than 100 pins but were forced to roll with a novice in the lineup. Mrs. Elbert Longyear has been signed for the team and another top-notch woman bowler is expected to be in the lineup for Friday's match.

The Colonial City Ladies now have Mrs. Adelaide Gilbert, Mrs. Chick Miller, Sally Gibe, Ruth Creak, "Boots" Byrne, Mrs. Longyear and another bowler to be selected before Friday.

Middletown's women are rated as one of the best feminine bowling squads in the region. The outstanding star is Celia Randall, who averages about 175. A week from Friday night the local women meet Hudson in a return match at Emerick's.

Middies Clash With Hudson Bowlers at Emerick's, Friday

A match of unusual interest to Kingston bowling fans will be staged Friday night at Emerick's Recreation at 8:30 when the Middletown State Hospital aggregation meets Jacobs Alleys of Hudson in a match for a big side bet.

Friday's match will be the third and deciding clash of their series. Jacobs Alleys won at Hudson by 143 pins while the State Hospital gained a 79 pin margin at Middletown. Both clubs have appeared in Kingston this year. Jones Dairy defeated Jacobs Alleys but lost to the State Hospital.

The State Hospital club will feature Tom Sheldon, highest average bowler in the Hudson Valley League for three years, Howard "Red" Leeson, Emil Garbarino, Tom Pines, all first class pinmen who are smacking the pins for an average of 190 or better in the Hudson valley circuit.

Hudson's lineup includes the Clowe brothers, George and Willie, Don "Red" Hawver, Johnny Fox and Jack Mullins. All of these men average above 185. Hudson has been defeated only four times in 13 matches this season.

The alleys selected are Nos. 3 and 4 at Emerick's Recreation and if both clubs are in form the fans are likely to see the highest scoring match ever rolled on the Emerick lanes.

As a result of a disastrous series last Sunday at the mediocre Monticello drive, Tom Sheldon, captain of the Middletown State Hospital club, has relinquished his high average lead in the Hudson Valley circuit to young Newt Pulver of Walden.

Sheldon topped from a 136 mark to 193.28 for 61 games while Pulver didn't roll and held his average of 196. State Hospital averages took a wholesale drop at Monticello. Tom Pines fell from 195 to 193, while Emil Garbarino suffered a loss from 193 plus to 191.44 for 61 games.

The current release of averages shows ten men in the select circle of 190 or better. Forty-three bowlers are hitting 180 or over with the balance in the 170 or lower division.

Randy Kelder, youthful star of Jones Dairy, heads the local leggers with 191.9 which places him seventh in the circuit. Gil Sampson and Ken Williams are next with 186 plus.

Liberty holds a one game lead in the team race and faces a crucial match at the State Hospital drive Sunday night. The mountaineers are in a tough spot to hold their lead with road matches listed against the State Hospital, Firthcliffe, Kingston Colonials and Walden.

Woodstock Sports Group Is Cheered By Big Week-end

Woodstock, Feb. 10.—The largest meeting of the Woodstock Winter Sports Association this season has been held in the Legion rooms of the Old-Woodstock Inn on Monday evening.

The week-end's snow brought renewed enthusiasm for plans for the Woodstock Winter Sports Association Meet to be held on the Ohayo Mountain run on Sunday. Two thousand feet of the run have been prepared and, with continued cold weather, it will be ready for use on the week-end.

Last year's toboggan meet, the most popular event of the winter season, was participated in by teams from Kingston, Rosendale, Saugerties, Poughkeepsie, West Hurley, Woodstock, Tannersville, Mt. Tremper, Ashokan and others. Committees, headed by Samuel Gregg, and Louis Lewis, were appointed to conduct this special event.

The cup, taken last year by the Woodstock Winter Sports Association team, is to be offered again and will be held by the winning contestant until next year's meet.

Standing committees reported that the condition of slides and skating rink were excellent last week-end. The toboggan slide was excepted as this is being held in readiness for this week-end's major event.

Other reports showed that most of the money expended this year has gone toward the employment of local labor and for material. The efforts of the Woodstock Winter Sports Association have already increased winter activities of many Woodstock hotels which formerly were closed during the winter months.

Talks by President Fen Franklin, and by Leon Carey, fired the membership with enthusiasm and were followed by generous offers of assistance and materials.

Dartball Competition

The Congregational Men's Club will play dartball with the First Reformed Church Men's Club on Friday evening at the First Reformed Church.

Many Entries for Toboggan Slide Meet at Woodstock

Woodstock, Feb. 10.—Entries are already being made for the Ulster County Toboggan Championship meet to be held on the Woodstock slide on Sunday, February 14.

A four-woman team from Irvington, N. J., has already entered, for the contest to win the cup offered by the Woodstock Winter Sports Association last year. The cup goes permanently to the team which wins it for the third time. In addition to the individual medals for members of the winning team, the meet was won last year by a Woodstock team captained by Donald L. Jackson. The average speed of their three runs was 26.33 seconds, more than a mile a minute.

Races will be started at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon in order to take advantage of the best condition of the slide. The course and the parking ground will be well policed this year, so that it is expected that more than 500 cars can be accommodated.

Brooks, Shoemaker Lead Billiardists

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—Lewis Brooks of Philadelphia, the defending champion, and J. Howard Shoemaker, the Long Island veteran who has won the title 19 times, topped the standing in the national amateur pocket billiards championship today as the third day of play began.

Brooks had a close call last night but pulled out a 125 to 103 victory over Charles Oliva of Chicago, Illinois state champion.

Shoemaker required only 12 innings, one of the shortest games in tournament history, to hand James Parks of Detroit his second set-back, 125 to 66.

Edwin C. Rogers of Glen Cove, L. I., another former champion, whipped young Arthur Cranfield of Syracuse, N. Y., 125-113, after Herbert Courtney of New York had beaten Ted Snyder, Brooklyn, 125-98.

Milton Holy Name Beats Aces by 27-26

A field goal by Havland in the closing seconds of the overtime period enabled the Milton Holy Name Seniors to eke out a 27-26 victory over the Clinton Avenue Aces in the feature weekly basketball attraction at Epworth Hall. Trailing 4-13 at the intermission the Clinton Avenue club staged a rally to tie the score at 22 all as the regulation game ended. The Aces were leading 26-25 when Havland let loose with a long shot as the final whistle blew to end the overtime period.

Havland and Murphy scored eight points apiece to lead the Milton Ave. "Whites." Myers made nine markers to lead the Clintons.

Wiltwyck Golf Directors Met

A very enthusiastic meeting of the board of directors of Wiltwyck Golf Club was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel last evening, at which time plans for the coming season were mapped out and much business of interest to the club was discussed.

Frank Shimek, who was playing manager and pro at the course last season, was again chosen for that position for the 1937 season and promised to have everything in good shape for an early opening of the golfing season.

A get-together supper and dance was planned for early in March to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel and Jose Alvarez was appointed chairman of a committee to see that all members and prospective members turn out for the affair.

A number of improvements are being planned for the coming months, which will include the erection of two or three shelters for players who might get caught in sudden showers while out on the course.

A caddy house may also be erected in the near future. All boys who wish to caddy at Wiltwyck during the coming season should apply in writing to Harold A. Styles, who is chairman of the greens committee.

It was planned to further improve the lower floor of the club house so that next winter this could be used as a headquarters for winter sports of all kinds. This will make membership in the club even more attractive than ever as the course will be used for golf in summer and for skating, tobogganing, skating and other sports in winter.

It was decided that no change would be made in the present low cost of membership in the club for a time and that members who pay their dues before April 1 would be accepted at last year's rates, but that all indications were that the membership would greatly increase before the season is very far advanced and that prospective members should file their applications early as it might be necessary later on to restrict the membership.

Reds Lead the American League On Two Week-End Victories

The Jersey Reds have attained the top rung of the ladder in the American Basketball League second-half tournament as a result of defeating both Kingston and Original Celtics during the past week. The Reds have a one game lead over the Philadelphia Hebrews who also were victorious in two games against the Original Celtics and Brooklyn Vistations.

The American League competition after a two-week trip through the middle-west, in which they were eight out of nine games against the important professional teams of that section.

The remarkable playing that was evidenced by the Jersey Reds during the first half of the season has been continued without interruption during this second half tour, and the Jerseyites are quite confident, under the leadership of their manager, that they will be the first club in the history of the American League to win both halves, thereby making a play-off series unnecessary.

As an important move in this direction they have in their credit the first defeat of the year of the Philadelphia Original Celtics team at the Jersey Reds.

Kingston High School's hoopsmen resume their cage schedule after a prolonged layoff by encountering the Monticello High courtstars at the mountain town hall this Friday night in a DUSO League clash. The Kingston men possess a victory skein of nine straight wins for an all-conquering record against stiff opposition and hope to add the Monticello to the list of victims. The Maroon basketball team pace the DUSO League pennant race with five straight conquests but despite this remarkable record are threatened by Newburgh and Liberty. Newburgh is looming up more and more as the team to beat if the Klasmans are to retain their championship laurels, but Monticello is sure to afford inspired competition.

Monticello is in sixth place in the league standings, having emerged from the cellar slot by defeating Ellenville in the most sensational tussle of the league schedule. Three overtime periods featured by a slugging pace were necessary before a foul shot by Hank Lipschitz in the waning seconds of the third extra frame gave the Monties a hectic 22-22 decision. The game was enlivened by the outbreak of a near riot after the teams had trooped to their dressing rooms. Ellenville discovered a technical ruling stating that in the case of a third overtime period a field goal must be netted to decide the contest. Coach Clark's boys swarmed back on the court disrupting a dance in progress but Referee Irwin Crawford of this city disallowed the claim and ruled in favor of Monticello. Both teams were utterly exhausted by the frantic action and Kingston is certain to encounter a greatly pepped-up opponent when they invade the Monties' court.

Coach Kias has been putting his red-shirted cagers through a series of stiff practice drills in an effort to keep the squad geared up for the Monticello affair slated for Friday. Kingston flashed sensational form against a highly-regarded Port Jervis quintet to trim the red and black of below-par performances against Poughkeepsie and Ellenville. With Charles Block setting an amazing pace with the league scorers plunges to top of the league cagers and Sloat Rowland and Tommy Maines high on the list. KHS has shown powerful scoring ability Monticello has undergone a series of shifts which have greatly strengthened the lineup and the local loaves will bank up against stiff opposition on their out-of-town jaunt. Newburgh and Liberty are hot on the trail of the locals who cannot afford to relax one iota lest the pursuing quintets jump into a first-place tie. Kingston has encountered torrid competition in its DUSO contests and Monticello is certain to be primed for a win to shatter the local winning streak of nine straight.

Nearly 100 Breeds In 1937 Dog Show

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—The Nation's best-groomed dogs were on the glory bench today — waiting their turn to be led out on the gray-green carpet in the Westminster Kennel Club's judging rings.

Four of last year's champions, including the big blue-ribbon winner, were among the 3,144 entries benched at Madison Square Garden to be judged in day and night sessions through Friday.

Champion St. Margaret Magnificent, the perky little Sealyham who trotted off with "best in show" last year, had a day of grace for the Sealyhams will not be judged until tomorrow.

But Ch. Milson O'Boy, Mahogany Irish setter who caught the popular fancy last year, and Ch. White Rose of Bowery, greyhound winner of the 1936 working dog class, were due in the ring today. The setter came through last year as best in the gun dog division.

The fourth returning champion, the German Shepherd Ch. Derw Von Der Starrenburg, winner of the 1936 working dog class, goes into the ring Thursday.

From the United States, Canada, Germany and England came the nearly 100 breeds to be judged, the fluffy cocker spaniels topping the entries with 205. There are 185 dachshunds and 114 wire-haired fox terriers in the show.

Wednesday, February 10—Original Celtics at Kingston.

Saturday, February 12—Kingston at Philadelphia.

Sunday afternoon, February 14—Philadelphia at Jersey Reds.

Chappie Improved, Hopes to Win Again Over Ranco Friday Night

Vastly improved since he fell victim to the punching power of Charlie Forezzi, Kid Chappie, Kingston favorite, hopes to triumph over Bobby Ranco, tough Poughkeepsie pugger, for the second time at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium Friday night in one of the five round bouts on the card to be presented by the Mayor's Industrial Committee.

On the last bill of scraps, Chappie outpointed Ranco in a hotly contested ring war, displaying the ability to take it as well as punch. "I want in the best shape," said Ranco after the match, "and I want to meet Chappie again." The two agreed on Friday, February 12.

Since he beat Ranco, Chappie chalked up another victory, decisively trimming Bull Palmer of Albany there by the knockout route, Monday night. The popular little local bantamweight finished Palmer in the second round, after tantalizing him with a stiff left jab as far as the fight went.

Chappie surprised Ben M. Becker, of the Adirondack A. A. U., with his boxing ability as well as his punching and brought praise from the amon pure solon who predicted a bright future for the little Bull Market clerk.

Complimented by Becker on his improvement, Chappie said he had a secret about his advancement, but did not care to talk about why he continues to win. The kid has not lost a bout since his comeback after the Forezzi fight.

If Chappie keeps on with a few more wins over boys like he has been beating, he probably will get another shot at Forezzi before long. Of course, Charlie will meet him whenever the date is set.

Forezzi is booked with Cliff Leger, Mohawk Indian, in the feature Friday night. "I think I can take him this time," said Forezzi when he agreed to box the Redskin in a return engagement. Leger won the last fight.

Boxing fans liked the other slugfest between the two, a gingery affair that saw Forezzi suffer a reverse, and hit the deck three times from the powerful punches of the smart little Scotia warrior.

Other bouts Friday will bring together Gunner Smith of West Point and Johnny Bilecki, Polish pounder from Scotia; Minnie Accetto, Mechanville, and Eddie Steele, Poughkeepsie; Tommy Zano, Glasco and Willie Pickett, West Point; Joey Tantillo, Highland, and Willie Bagnoli, Mechanville, and Jimmy Ferguson and Tommy Taylor of Kingston, a protégé of Gene Harrison.

Reserved seats are being accepted at the Municipal Auditorium, phone 3718.

Sonja Henie Skates At Garden, Feb. 15

Fancy skating enthusiasts will have an opportunity to see the greatest of all figure skaters, Sonja Henie, in one of the most comprehensive programs ever put on by the champion of champions when she skates in Madison Square Garden Monday night, February 15.

Four numbers, which with encores will make up one full hour of skating will be presented by Sonja. Included in the program will be the famous "Diving Swan," which was adapted from Pavlova's immortal ballet; her Olympic routine which reaches the highest pinnacle in free skating and two other dance-skating numbers.

Sonja is now in Pittsburgh, skating to capacity houses and adding to her already staggering total of conquests. The members of the Sigma Phi Fraternity, national college organization, at their convention in Pittsburgh chose Sonja as their National Sweetheart for 1932. At a newspaper sponsored dinner for champions of 1932 Sonja was guest of honor and the University of Pittsburgh also had her as guest of honor at a special meeting of the student body.

Lake Placid Bob Races Sunday

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—Barring a sudden change in the weather, the Mount Van Hoevenberg bob-run will be ready for the first championship races of the season Sunday. Conservation Department officials announced today.

Four-man teams will compete simultaneously for the Governor Leffman and Lithgow Osborne trophies. The Adirondack Bobbing Club made plans to crowd its lone-portioned program into what remains of winter.

Colonial League Schedule This Week

The Colonial bowling league schedule for this week follows:

Thursday
Mt. Marion Inn vs. Mill Street Garage.
Friday

Livingstons Will Bowl On April 27

Gus Wiedemann, captain of the Livingstons of the City Bowling League, has received word that the team will bowl in the A. B. C. contest, New York city, on April 27. Members of the team to make the trip are: Wiedemann, C. Budden, J. A. Budden, Harry K. Budden and Kenneth Van Doren.

Here's How A Golf Ball Is Made

A Shot of liquid is injected into a small rubber center about the size of an overgrown marble. The liquid, which expands when warm, gives a golf ball life.

A Stretch pulls 25 yards of slack rubber band to 300 and the core is machine-wrapped after being frozen at 40° below zero—more "life."

Half Shells molded from a composition of Brazilian ball, pitch and latex encase the heated ball and are vulcanized under high pressure and heat. Molds imprint the surface grid.

Paint sprays from hood of guns as the big wheel revolves the twirling ball—three coats are "baked" 18 hours each at 90 to 100 degrees.

Dimples are painted on in various colors with trademark and "tourist numbers" that help identify otherwise identical balls.

Punishment lies ahead for the finished product. Golf balls are subjected to tests for durability and distance.

The importance of uniformity and standardization in golf balls is emphasized by the attention being given them by owners and managers in the modernization of golf courses.

DIZ HOOKS ONE IN FLORIDA

Waiting for word from the Cardinals about his $50,000 salary demand, Diz Dean is doing anything but worrying at his winter home in Bradenton, Fla. Here he is about to eat a fish he hooked and named Ricky Bredon for his Cardinal bosses. (Associated Press Photo)

Morganweck Hopes for Best in Colonial-Celtic Battle Tonight

Collins and Quinn Don't Agree on All Baseball Problems

Boston, Feb. 10 (AP).—Seeing as how both are old American leaguers, it is easy to understand why Eddie Collins and Bob Quinn, resident executives of Boston's two major league clubs, agree that salary disputes with players should be settled by the front office and not be permitted to develop into training camp headaches for their managers.

But that is about all they have in common when it comes to talking turkey with their hired hands. Quinn works on the theory that you should get rid of any player who rates a salary cut but Collins, who was once a player and one of the best, is convinced players who didn't deliver the previous season have no right to get upstays about their next contracts.

As things stand now, neither the Red Sox nor the Bees are loaded down with signed contracts. The National Leaguers, however, appear to have a shade of the best of it for, according to reports from Los Angeles, the stubborn Wally Berger, reputed to be the highest paid outfielder in the senior circuit, accepted the first terms Quinn set down for him and, for about the first time in six years, will be signed when he arrives at the training camp next month. Another canny trader to accept Quinn's original offer was Deacon Danny McInnis, but then Bob has been dealing with him for years in both leagues.

"All players strive to sell their services for as much as they can get," Quinn explained, "and no one should find fault with that. But the man making out the contracts should know values. If one knows those values and is honest, he will put into the very first contract he sends a player every dollar he intends to pay him."

"He should never send out a contract for less money than he thinks a player is worth to his club. It is mighty foolish to dicker with players that way."

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)
New York—Bobby Pacho, 147½, Los Angeles, outpointed Bobby Wilson, 145½, Washington, (8).

Los Angeles—Bob Newell, 191, Los Angeles, knocked out King Linsky, 206, Chicago, (10).

Modesto, Calif.—Maxie Rosenbloom, 139, New York, outpointed Jack Kranz, 191, Gary, Ind., (8).

San Jose, Calif.—Jackie Jurich, 110, San Jose, outpointed Joey Tuiz, 110, New York, (10).

Jersey City, N. J.—Joey Costa, 135, Jersey City, and Orville Drouillard, 155, Canada, drew, (8).

Pittsburgh—Bud Mignault, 171½, Brockton, Mass., stopped Oscar Rasmussen, 165½, (11).

TRENTON BASKETBALL PLAYER ON WAY TO WORLD'S RECORD

Columbus, O., Feb. 10 (AP).—Nick Francella of Trenton, N. J., sensational junior sharpshooter on the Womans College basketball team, set sail today for the all-time national collegiate scoring record and if he can cover the course he has followed for the last year and a half he will reach his goal.

Francella piled up 236 points in 17 games last year and in a dozen this season he has counted 207. The record books list Robert H. Many of Lehigh University as the all-time top-notch scorer with 622 points for three years of play, starting with the 1927-28 season. His average per game was 14.63.

Glen Roberts of Emory-Henry is credited in the record books with 1,523 points for his college career, but the mark is not fully recognized because he made it over a four-year period with a college which permitted freshmen to play.

A new list—a large bloom of glory—was announced last night by the attention being given them by owners and managers in the modernization of golf courses.

Regarding tonight's American Basketball League at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, Manager Frank Morganweck, of the Colonials, said to a reporter, "All I can hope for is that we have an on night against Kate Smith's Celtics."

"No one can tell what that big green team is going to do, especially when Pete Berenson and Charlie Johnson throw them in the way they have been scoring. We'll have a tough road, and all I can do is hope for the best."

Morgie talked from his bed, having been ordered not to get up by Dr. Fred Carr, his physician. "I can't make any more road trips this season," the old maestro continued, "and things will have to go without me. I don't like this arrangement, but the doctor has put his foot down, and I must stay home."

Concerning tonight's clash with the Celtics, Morgie said he just had to get out to see it. "I'm going to sneak down to the auditorium, and sit in the balcony," Dr. Carr has ordered him to keep off the players' bench.

About the starting lineup, Morgie had nothing to say. "We'll leave that until tonight," he answered, but intimated that the regular five starters would take the floor—Stanley and Saunders, forwards; Hearn, center; Husta and Rabin guards.

Lefty Kintzing, who has been going good in the relief role lately, and Pip Koehler will be ready for extra duty.

The Celtic roster, besides Johnson and Berenson, lists Al Kellott, formerly of the Kingston team; Ben Bass, Pete Barry, the grand old vet, and Rip Kaplinsky.

Whether Kate Smith will accompany the team, Morgie didn't know, but it will be nothing out of the ordinary to see the famous radio singer in a front seat. She is very much interested in the team she backs, and never misses a game at the Hippodrome, the home court.

Starting time of the game tonight is 7:30 instead of the usual time on account of church services for Ash Wednesday.

Reserved seats for the contest have sold rapidly, and one of the largest crowds seen at the auditorium this season is expected for the feature and the extraordinary preliminary between the Iptown and Downtown Merchants.

MARKETS FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Receipts of fresh fruits and vegetables from upstate were rather light today, but moderate supplies were on hand from previous arrivals.

The demand was moderate for apples and onions and slow for cabbage, carrots, potatoes, and pears. The market was slightly weaker for potatoes, but about steady for other kinds of produce.

Onions, Orange county, 50-70, sack yellow 75-85c, some 90c, medium size 60c-70c, small 40c-50c, some poorer lower.

Schniebs to Give Skiing Lecture at Phoenicia, Friday

A lecture illustrated with motion pictures will be given by Otto Schniebs, internationally famous skier, Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock at Odd Fellows hall, Phoenicia.

The lecture by the former Dartmouth ski club team coach and coach of the American Olympic team will be of much benefit to those interested in learning more of the art of skiing. The admission charge will be very nominal.

Mr. Schniebs has been at Phoenicia this week conducting a class in which many local people have been taking skiing instructions. This class has been made possible through the efforts of the Phoenicia Ski Club in bringing Mr. Schniebs to Phoenicia. Besides coaching the Dartmouth College ski club for six years and the American Olympic team he is chief of the official school for instructors of the Eastern Ski Association. The classes by Mr. Schniebs will continue through February 12.

Also at Phoenicia will be found Howard Bentley, former ski instructor for R. H. Macy & Co., who will give private instructions and conduct classes throughout the winter season.

The success of the first "snow train" to the Catskills was so great that the New York Central Railroad has agreed to continue these trains so long as there is skiing. Should there be sufficient snow this week-end the railroad has promised to send up trains Thursday evening for those who desire to spend Lincoln's Birthday holiday in the mountains and also on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Operation of these trains however, are dependent upon there being skiing in the Catskills over the week-end. The warm weather and rain has taken off considerable of the snow which made for ideal skiing last week, but all required is a light fall to place the trails and slopes in good condition.

SOUTH RONDOUT

Little Nancy Barnum of Kingston is spending the week at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Cole.

Maine is the leading pulp and paper manufacturing state in the Union. Thirty establishments sold $50,278,452 worth of these products last year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE F. JAGGER

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—Broad buying demand lifted stock market leaders to new recovery peaks today. Paced by U. S. Steel, which crossed $104 a share for the first time in more than five years, gains of fractions to 3 points were recorded for many issues.

Utilities pointed the way at the opening and, for a while, the ticker tape was unable to keep up with floor dealings. Extreme gains were recorded in numerous instances later and there was an assortment of losers near the final hour. The volume dwindled in the afternoon. Transfers were around 2,700,000 shares.

The power group responded to the action of two important corporations in announcing a truce with the securities and exchange commission. Heavy industry stocks reflected indications of steadily improving business.

Even General Motors took a new lease on life with a modest upturn as hopes of strike settlement brightened. Chrysler was a strong spot along with a variety of truck company issues.

Bonds and commodities were a bit uneven.

Two Utilities Withdraw Suits

Two utilities, the North American Co. and American Water Works and Electric Co., have announced intention to register under the Public Utility Act and revealed withdrawal of constitutional suits in District of Columbia Supreme Court. Their action breaks the "unified front" of industry against registering and opens way for refunding by the two companies which may reach a total of $400,000,000. Chrysler has raised wages by about $13,000,000 to $14,000,000 annually. Crude oil output and gasoline stocks increased. Rail freight loadings showed recovery and indications are that business of nation-wide retailers is running at highest levels since pre-depression days.

Decline in British government securities at higher interest rates are among developments which financial circles believe indicate dearer money here and in England.

Humble Oil confirmed purchase from General American Corp. of cashing gasoline plant in Texas oil territory for more than $1,000,000.

J. F. Goodrich bought factory site and building at Cadillac, Mich.

J. C. Penney January sales were $15,928,239, largest January total in company's history, a gain of 14 per cent over like 1931 month.

Warner Bros. announced decision not to issue additional common stock.

Rail traffic is estimated to have gained last week to level near that obtaining prior to flood tie-ups.

Export copper price yesterday hit another new high at 13.4 cents per pound.

Several shoe manufacturers raised wholesale prices because of rising costs of raw materials. At Lynn, Mass., a 15 per cent wage jump was demanded before February 23 by one of the three large shoe workers' unions.

Bankers to Hold Annual Banquet

The Ulster County Bankers Association will hold its annual banquet Thursday evening at the Hotel Stuyvesant at 7:30 o'clock. Representatives from the 21 banks in the county are expected to attend.

Judge Leone D. Howell, surrogate of Nassau county, will be the principal speaker.

In the absence of Philip Elting, president of the association, who is confined to his home with a cold, E. C. Coykendall, vice president of the association, will preside as toastmaster.

ST. REMY FIRE AUXILIARY WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Remy Fire Department, which elected officers at the meeting on February 1, will install them at the next session, Monday, February 15.

The officers elected are Mrs. Kenneth Krom, president; Mrs. S. Spohrer, vice president; Mrs. Lewis Van Vleet, secretary; Mrs. Frank Pokorny, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Ryan, entertainment and refreshment committee.

All the firemen are invited to attend the meeting Monday at which a covered dish supper will be served. A pleasant evening is promised all who attend.

Democrat Warns On Court Decision

corrected, I am filing resolutions which, if adopted, will place the Legislature squarely against the President's proposal to control the Supreme Court of the United States.

Opposition Growing

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—Ten Democratic representatives banded together today to unite opposition to the President's court reorganization program, two minor phases of which came before the House for immediate debate.

The group—all but one a southerner—appointed Rep. Cox of Georgia, chairman of a steering committee to line up other members.

They advanced no indication of their potential strength, but Rep. May of Kentucky, said:

"There's a revolt on in the House."

Attending a meeting of the group last night, besides Cox and May, were Hitt of Illinois, Mansfield of Texas, Robertson, Smith and Drewry of Virginia, Pearson of Tennessee, Chapman of Kentucky, and Peterson of Georgia.

The two measures which Chairman Sumners (D., Tex.) of the House Judiciary committee said he would call up today were relatively free from controversy.

Permit Full Pay

One would authorize voluntary retirement of Supreme Court justices on full pay at the age of 70, if they had served ten years. At present a pension depends on a special vote of Congress.

This measure has the President's endorsement. It does not cover his proposal, however, to enlarge the Supreme Court if justices over 70 do not retire.

The other measure would permit the attorney general to enter private suits involving attacks on the constitutionality of federal laws. He also could appeal directly to the Supreme Court from an adverse district court decision.

Both bills were advocated by the House Judiciary committee. Rep. Celler (D.-N. Y.), ranking majority member, said, however, he thought the committee had "approved all it would approve" of the President's program.

Oppose Enlarging Court

Celler declared he would oppose enlarging the Supreme Court. Rep. McMillan (D.-S. C.), chairman of the subcommittee which handles appropriations for the judiciary, expressed similar views.

Chairman Sumners said his committee had not discussed arrangements for hearings on the President's Supreme Court proposal.

Senate sentiment on the President's court plan was becoming more closely divided.

Twenty-seven senators have voiced criticism of the proposal for enlarging the Supreme Court if the older justices did not retire. Thirty-one have spoken for it.

That left the balance of power in the hands of the other 38 members, most of whom were noncommittal. Some of this group have spoken "off-the-record" in opposition.

In the Senate Judiciary committee, which will begin a study of the program Monday, eight of the 18 members have criticized the President's plan and five have favored it.

Senator Robinson's proposal to make the retirement age for justices 75 years instead of 70 was regarded by some senators as a basis for compromise.

34 Courts in Arrears

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Washington Post said today in a copyrighted story that survey showed dockets were in arrears in 34 Federal District Courts, but that judges over 70 sit in only four of those districts.

President Roosevelt cited the crowded calendars of Federal Courts as one reason for his proposal to add a judge in any district where the incumbent judge does not retire at 70.

The paper said Justice Department figures showed dockets were current and up to date in 51 of 85 Federal District Courts on June 30.

The paper said 10 judicial districts in which civil cases are delayed one year or more after the issue is joined, according to Justice Department records as of June 30, include the Southern District of New York and the Middle and Eastern Districts of Pennsylvania.

The only active judges in the 10 districts over 70 years old, the Post said, are Oliver B. Dickinson, 79, in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, and Edward B. Cushman, 71, in the Western District of Washington.

Eight districts where it said delay is from six months to a year include the Eastern District of New York. The Post said none of the judges in these districts is over 70, unless it is Judge Marcus B. Campbell, whose age is not given in "Who's Who."

Infant Mortality Rate Lower Here

The Board of Health met behind closed doors Tuesday evening and after a lengthy session it was announced that no business of public importance was transacted.

The infant mortality rate has dropped in Kingston since the state health department decided to open a baby clinic in the city, was shown by the fact that the rate of death among babies during January of this year was 35.7 as compared with death rate of 91.8 in January of 1936.

The reports of the officers showed that there were 56 births and the same number of deaths in the city during January.

The report of Health Officer L. E. Sanford showed the following communicable diseases:

	1937	1936
Measles	1	70
Scarlet Fever	17	1
Chickpox	38	21
Pneumonia	65	24
Paratyphoid	1 (N.R.)	0

Among the local plane owners who attended the national air show in New York last week-end were John Buzzanco, James Locke, and Paul Swanson. All agreed that the outstanding feature was the section displaying light planes for the average man as a private owner and that the show was certainly worthwhile.

Bearsville Party
Axapae Robekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Bearsville, will hold a public card party in the lodge hall, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The average male star is 5 feet 10 1/2 inches tall and tips the scale at 162, while the average movie heroine is 5 inches less over all and scales 111.

Six Cars Crash On "Slick" Road

No one was injured in an accident which eventually involved more than six cars or trucks on slippery, fog-bound Route 9-W north of Barne's Farm, Middle Hope, early Monday evening.

Driving became so difficult as fog thickened during the evening that many of the big commercial transport units parked for long periods in convenient parking spots off the concrete. Just north of the accident scene, eight large truck-trailer units halted.

The 7:30 p. m. series of crashes proved so complex that Constable Walter Mahabay was unable to identify several drivers who merely pulled away taking their minor damages for granted.

The car of Dr. Samuel Levitas of 36 Westchester street, Kingston, took the brunt of the collisions in the fog, along with a truck of North-Haven Haulers, Watertown. Dr. Levitas, driving north, stopped to consider damage after he had hooked bumpers with an unidentified car.

According to the constable's report, the northbound Northern Haulers truck, driven by Harold Claffing, is reported to have sideswiped the doctor's car while attempting to pull around it. The impact loosened the truck body which fell over on the sedan.

A trailer driven by William E. Duncan of Charleston, Ill., also northbound, attempted to slow down upon approaching the accident scene, in doing this, it was reported that the trailer sideswiped a car driven by David Wolpe of Poughkeepsie, and then rammed the back of the Levitas car.

This propelled the Levitas sedan up on a nearby sandbank and caused the body of the Watertown truck to fall on the road scattering its load of case oil over the highway. A short time later an unidentified southbound sedan skidded into the wrecked truck body.

Republicans Attack Lehman Security Bill

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—Expected passage of Governor Lehman's social security program in the Republican-controlled Assembly was delayed today by a bitter Republican attack and then a recess to permit members to attend church in observance of Ash Wednesday.

When the House reconvenes this afternoon, the members will sit in joint session with the Senate to elect two members of the Board of Regents before resuming debate on the social security program already approved by the Democratic-led Senate.

James J. Wadsworth, Livingston county assemblyman who led last year's successful opposition to the measure, directed the new attack with an assertion the bill is a "sham and fraud."

Laurens M. Hamilton, Rockland county Republican, continued the assault on the bill begun by Wadsworth, asserting "I oppose transfer of state authority to some board in Washington."

Asserting that the measure would make "sympathy of the state of New York for dependent children dependent on money from the federal government," he asked:

"If at some time Washington decides to stop its work what's going to happen?"

"The taxpayers of the state of New York are rich enough to pay the costs of anything we decide should be done," he asserted.

To Observe World Day of Prayer Here

A World Day of Prayer will be observed by the women of the Kingston churches Friday, February 12, at 10 a. m. in Trinity M. E. Church, and Hunter streets.

In 1929 the first Friday in Lent was set for the "Day of Prayer" when many church women of many denominations in the United States joined in common prayer. The call to prayer was sent out by the national missionary organizations, and foreign. The call was for prayer to be held in "cities, towns and villages morning, noon or evening" to ask God's mercy upon the "lost and confused nations." The idea was "The World to Christ We Pray." The idea of a day of prayer was first observed in 1927. The response to the program for Earth Peace, Goodwill Toward Men, was world-wide.

In the United States the day of prayer is inter-denominational both locally and nationally. Federations of churches, hospitals, schools, mission centers as well as individual Christians participate. The National Council of Federated Church Women operates in the observance of the day of prayer. The Columbia Broadcasting Company and the press also help to make the observance nation-wide.

The program for the observance of the World Day of Prayer on the first Friday in Lent in 1937, was written by Miss Mabel Shaw, founder of the Livingston Memorial High School at Mbereshi, Karamoja Northern Rhodesia, Africa. The program, "Thou Art the Christ, the Son of the Living God," is being used on the same day in various forms in more than 50 countries.

All women of Kingston are invited to unite in this service.

NEW RECIPES BY "COOKIE"

Asparagus Custard

1 cup milk
1 cup cream or canned asparagus
1/2 cup cut in 1/2-inch pieces
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Dash of nutmeg
Salt and pepper

Beat eggs until light. Add milk, asparagus, butter, lemon rind, nutmeg. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a greased baking dish or individual molds. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until the custard is set. Serve 6.

Lobster Croquettes

2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper

Make a white sauce of the shortening, flour, salt, pepper and milk. When thick and smooth and cool add to it the lobster, which has been seasoned with 1/4 teaspoon of salt, the parsley and lemon juice. A dash of nutmeg may also be added. Shape the mixture into small croquettes. Egg and crumb and fry in hot deep fat until brown. Drain on brown paper (Fat temperature at 390° F.) Serve this with tartar sauce. Serves 6.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The sole duty of Louis H. Tolhurst's actors was to chew the scenery. This they did, to the director's ultimate satisfaction, but they drew no compliments from that exacting boss. "They're dumb actors," he pronounced. "Bees now, or wasps, or ants or spiders—they're easy to handle. But grasshoppers!"

He had just completed the "afterthought sequence" for "The Good Earth," even then ready for its local premiere. It would be inserted to convey to audiences, in full close-up, exactly why a plague of locusts—or kindred grasshoppers—is a real menace to man. The picture already contained scenes showing locusts in swarms, but a few weeks ago it was decided close-ups were necessary. The audience should see those saw-like mandibles at work, devastating ripening fields.

Micro-photography was the answer, and Louis Tolhurst, a scholarly gentleman who has been specializing in this field for the movies for 18 years, got the call.

New Process

"We've done something new," he said, that day he finished. "A new process developed right on the set—we've caught, for the first time, micro-photographic scenes with full backgrounds in focus."

The process is secret, but it seems that hitherto scenes photographed under a microscope lost all background. From now on, Tolhurst expects to be able to combine microscopic shots with ordinary camera work (by superimposing) so that, if desired, the magnified contents of a test tube may be seen as part of a shot showing the man holding the tube. For "The Good Earth," the grasshoppers are brought, little by little, from a long shot up to full screen close-up.

The scenery these little actors had to chew was made of short stalks of wheat and grass, erected in sets only four inches high. They chewed under a blue-white light so powerful that, uncooled, it would have burned down the stage.

No Insect Stars

No new insect star, however, will emerge from these scenes. Tolhurst would not deny that perhaps some of them (for the grasshoppers you'll see are really composites of many) had taken their last curtain call already. Frail fellows, thousands succumbed to seasonal poor health, if not to the excitement of a movie career.

"It was a rush job, and Tolhurst considered himself lucky to find any of the species at this time of year."

"And even the wheat," he said, "was available only because steel dropped during the making of the picture—last year—had sprouted prematurely, right here on the lot."

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Molasses Pie Recipe
Chicken And Rice
Buttered Asparagus
Rolls
Fennel Salad
Molasses Pie
Coffee

Chicken And Rice

1 tablespoon butter or chicken fat
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms (optional)
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup minced green peppers
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1 cup boiled rice
Melt butter in frying pan. Add mushrooms, celery, peppers and parsley. Cook 5 minutes. Add flour and blend carefully. Then add milk or chicken stock. Cook until creamy sauce forms, stirring constantly. Add scallions and chicken. Cook until hot. Serve, poured over the rice.

Favorite Salad

1/2 cup diced green fruit
1/2 cup diced oranges
1/2 cup French dressing
Combine and chill ingredients. Serve in bowl lined with dress.

Molasses Pie

1 unbaked pie crust
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup molasses (optional)
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup eggs
1/2 cup vanilla
Mix sugar with flour, salt and spices. Add molasses and eggs. Beat 2 minutes. Add butter, pecans and vanilla. Pour into the crust. Bake 10 minutes in moderate heat, then lower heat and bake 20 minutes in moderate heat.

Are you weary of learning the inside of your cooking utensils? All types of pots and pans now come in stainless steel which continues to gleam like silver when in use.

School until the age of 12, and marriage at 14, that was the design for living of the stage star of the future, declared Dr. Edgar Booth, lecturer in physics at Sydney, Australia.

High School News

Kingston High's varsity debaters defeated Highland High School in a debate held at the local school yesterday afternoon by a 5 to 1 decision. The KHS affirmative squad emerged victorious by a 2-1 verdict after a series of well-prepared discourses, while the negative array gained a unanimous decision of 3-0.

The Maroon affirmative unit was composed of Marjorie Tease, first speaker; Donald Wood, second speaker; Virginia Boggs, third speaker. The local negative array consisted of Ebel Moncure, Evelyn Olivet and Adam Moncure, who gained a unanimous verdict on the topic of discussion. Resolved: "That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated."

The local orators encountered well-founded opposition while defending the affirmative angle of the topic against Highland, but a series of concise-prepared statements gained a clean sweep for the Maroon discourses on the negative side, giving them the meet by a 5-1 margin.

Science Club

The Newton Science Club conducted an interesting special assembly program this morning in the high school auditorium for mechanically inclined students. Invitations were extended to boys enrolled in the machine shop courses and a large group of interested students attended. The program was enlivened by sound equipped moving pictures, emphasizing farm mechanics, shown through the courtesy of a manufacturing company.

First Clocks Wonderful

Examples of Maker's Art

The first clocks that were set up in church belfries and public buildings in the later Middle Ages were crude affairs compared with the scientifically precise instruments, but their general principles were exactly the same. They comprised a power source—usually weights—which moved wheel work, to which was attached some means of indicating the time. The rate of going was regulated by a vibrating body, at first a horizontal bar, later a balance wheel or pendulum, and the power was governed and applied a little at a time by a device known as an escapement, which alternately caught and released some part of the mechanism. It is the escapement in a watch or clock which makes the ticking; it is truly the heart of the timepiece, writes Eugene Gould in the Washington Star.

The word "clock" comes from an old German meaning "bell," and the Greek word for bell is "glocke" to this day. Later, dials were rigged up, showing a moving hand showing the time—an idea taken from the ancient Greek water clocks.

At first went on medieval craftsmen of clocked clocks which were marvels of mechanical ingenuity, if not of accuracy. The famous clock of Strasbourg cathedral is an example. It was put up in 1332 and has been twice rebuilt, each time by a different craftsman. It is three stories high, and stands against the cathedral wall somewhat in the center of a great altar with three

The World of Stamps

By QUINTON JAMES

Andorra, often called "the smallest republic in the world," contributes two of the newest stamps.

They are a 2-centimes blue and a 15-cent red violet. And both use the same design, a rather handsome coat-of-arms. The Latin motto beneath the shield is, "Virtus unita fortior."

Andorra stamps have been issued since 1928 under both Spanish and French administration. The government of this semi-independent state in the Pyrenees on the Franco-Spanish border is under joint control of France and the Spanish bishop of Urgel, both of whom collect a small annual tax.

The size of Andorra is 193 square miles. The language is Catalan.

Franklin One-Cent

If the head of Benjamin Franklin disappears from the one-cent U. S. stamp in the proposed presidential issue picturing only presidents, it is possible it may be used again on a coin, the copper cent.

A movement looking toward that end has been started by thousands of Pennsylvania alumni who propose that to make way for Franklin's head on the one-cent piece Lincoln be moved up to the nickel, replacing the buffalo. This change, as stated in resolutions adopted, could be effected in 1937 without act of Congress.

Sponsors of this movement have urged, besides Franklin's head, should be used on both the one-cent stamp and coin. Franklin, who was the first postmaster general, has appeared on a one-cent stamp in 1862 and has been used on most of the one-centers since. The normal value which all enjoyed. The next meeting will be held February 19.

The school was pleased to welcome on its roll a former pupil, Jack Hilljile.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Clarissa Hogan of Kingston spent Thursday of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Depay, and daughter, Jennie.

Trujillo City's Anniversary

Honoring the first anniversary of the capital's change in name from Santo Domingo to Trujillo City, the Dominican republic has issued three stamps. They call attention to the erection of a 34-foot obelisk marking the event.

The obelisk is pictured in the central panel of the stamp design. To its left is a portrait of General Rafael L. Trujillo, for whom the city was named. He is described as "Generalissimo, doctor, President of the Republic, Benefactor of the Nation."

To the right is a third panel describing the purpose of the stamp and the obelisk.

The three denominations are 1-cent green, 2-cent purple and 3-cent red and dark blue. The stamps were printed in comparatively small numbers, 250,000 for the 1-cent, 200,000 for the 2 and 30,000 for the 3.

Next Army-Navy Stamp

Next to appear in the army-navy set will be the three-centers. The first day sale has been set for Washington on February 14, and at other post offices the next day.

In the usual purple hue of the advertisement, the new stamps will have General Sherman, Grant and Sheridan for the army, and Admiral Perry and Porter, together with a warship of their period, for the navy.

The stamps will be sold at a 10 per cent discount from the face value.

Rauer Speaks to Highway Heads

Among those who spoke at the meeting held Tuesday when the town superintendents and county supervisors met with state officials and the county superintendent of highways was K. G. Rauer, resident engineer in charge of maintenance from the district engineer's office of the highway department at Poughkeepsie and William B. Kelley and F. L. Ostrander from the department of audit and control.

Mr. Rauer gave a very interesting talk on various phases of highway construction, materials to be used and costs as well as speaking of the maintenance end of the work. Questions relative to highway construction, maintenance and the matter of caring for gravel roads in this locality were discussed. During this period of highway construction and improvement much explosive material is also used and the manner of handling this was gone into as well as the matter of destroying small quantities of explosives which have become old and depreciated in point of strength. The law relative to handling and transportation of explosives was explained and various questions of town superintendents were answered.

The representatives from the department of audit and control explained various matters in regard to keeping of highway accounts and also the manner in which WPA funds of a town should be handled. Following the talks an opportunity was given to question the speakers.

These meetings are held each year for instruction and explanation of new provisions of law regulating highway matters.

SPEND MILLIONS TO CUT AIR ACCIDENTS

Government Takes Cognizance of Recent Disasters.

Washington, D. C. — Taking cognizance of the four recent air line accidents in which twenty-one persons were killed, the Department of Commerce announced that 10 million dollars would be spent on modernization of its safety equipment during the next two years.

J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, revealed that the bureau of the budget had already approved additional expenditures for the next fiscal year. The modernization program would be in addition to the normal functions of the bureau of air commerce, which spent $4 million dollars during the last year, Johnson said.

Asked about the new modernization program Johnson said there were 300 items ranging from $5,000 to $175,000 for improvements and the installation of new equipment.

The main improvement in air line operations, however, would be the introduction of the radio compass, according to Johnson. He claimed that the four recent accidents might have been avoided had the planes contained radio compasses that would function properly.

Johnson said the compass had not yet been developed to perfection. One of them, a Bendix product, was tested in a Lockheed Elektra plane at Washington and sent back to the factory for further adjustments. This compass, consisting of a ball of coils, was encased in mica to protect it from ice and sleet, and attached to the belly of the plane.

In the plane of the future, according to Commerce department experts, the pilot will turn on the receiving set and move the station selector to the frequency of the station he desires to pick up.

The pilot will tune in on his station until the maximum volume is reached, and from that time on he merely watches a needle on his instrument board which is pointed to zero. If the plane veers to either side the needle will move accordingly to show the airman his ship is wandering from its course.

The airman's course will lead directly to the radio station, and from there he will orient himself with respect to the local landing field.

Chimpanzee, 7, Is Rated at a Mental Age of 5

Fort Worth, Tex. — Patsy, seven-year-old female chimpanzee at the Forest Park zoo here, is rated by Hamilton Hittson, keeper, as one of the nation's smartest animals.

Her antics please hundreds of Fort Worth youngsters each Sunday afternoon during good weather, and her talents recently were put to practical use as a "retriever" of twenty monkeys that escaped from an exhibit.

Hittson and his assistant gave Patsy an examination which he said fixed her mental age as equal to that of a five-year-old child.

First, a banana was suspended from the ceiling and several boxes were scattered about the cage. Patsy placed the largest box under the banana, stacked the others on top and retrieved the fruit.

Next, an orange was placed just outside the cage, with a stick nearby. Patsy grasped the stick and batted the orange through an opening. An attendant led Patsy to a hydrant, turned on the water, then turned it off. He showed the chimpanzee a glass and asked: "Are you thirsty?"

Patsy took the glass to the hydrant and after several trials turned on the water. She filled the glass and drank from it. Then, she handed the empty glass to her keeper.

25-Inch Snail Is Found in South Dakota Badlands

Pierre, S. D. — On one of the largest and most complete ammonites ever found in the United States has been discovered by A. M. Jackley in the Badlands section of South Dakota. An ammonite is the petrified remains of a prehistoric snail which lived years ago when the country was covered with water.

The specimen Jackley unearthed is 25 inches in diameter, almost geometrically perfect and in a rare state of preservation.

Dover, Ohio.—Karl O. Diech, sixty-five years old, has ridden his twenty-seven-year-old bicycle nearly twice the distance around the world—40,264 miles.

He Uses Tombstones in Building Home

Bolivar, Mo. — Ghosts don't worry Frank Karpek, Ozark stonemason, who is using tombstones in the construction of his new farm home.

Karpek and his three sons moulded concrete bricks for the house and fashioned gravestones from an abandoned cemetery into ornamental arches above the windows and doors.

The few remaining markers at the neglected graves will be laid as flagstones around the house. Karpek plans to clear the cemetery of weeping willow trees and sow the land in clover.

Broadway Plays Are Scanned for College Women at Meeting

The Kingston College Women's Club met last evening at the home of Mrs. William Kraft, 130 Fair street, with Mrs. William Hasbrouck presiding. Upon calling the meeting to order, Mrs. Hasbrouck announced the resignation of the recording secretary, Mrs. John H. Clair, and appointed Miss Agnes Scott Smith to complete Mrs. Clair's unexpired term of office.

As chairman of the extension committee, Mrs. James J. Murphy, Jr. introduced Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom, Miss Eva Clinton, Miss Florence Baltz and Mrs. Harry Halverson, all of whom told of new projects and developments in a number of the better known eastern colleges and universities.

Miss Dorothy Brooks, chairman of the membership committee, presented the names of Mrs. Herbert Flister, graduated from William Smith College with an A. B. degree, and Miss Mary McCutcheon, who holds an A. B. degree from the College of St. Rose and an M. A. degree from Columbia University. Both were accepted into active membership of the club.

Following the treasurer's report the club voted to donate $25 to the Red Cross. Mrs. Hasbrouck then announced the following committee to nominate a slate of officers for the coming year: Miss Jean Estey, chairman, Mrs. N. LeVan Haver and Miss Mary Staples.

It was also announced that the club had secured as its speaker for the open meeting in March, Major General John O'Ryan. This meeting will be held in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church and each club member will be responsible for four tickets, the proceeds from which will be contributed to the College Club Scholarship Fund. Mrs. John L. McKinnon, Mrs. J. Richard Shults and Miss Rosalene Preston were appointed members of the ticket committee.

Two announcements were also made concerning group meetings of the club. Miss Madeline Tarrant explained that the next meeting of the drama study group would be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Deatlehauser, 80 Lucas avenue, on Wednesday evening, February 24, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be devoted to a study of Maxwell Anderson's three plays now running on Broadway, "Winless Victory," "High Tor" and "The Masque of Kings."

The book study group will meet with Mrs. J. Richard Shults, 155 Pearl street, Wednesday evening, February 17. This meeting is also called for 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Hasbrouck then introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Margaret Wentworth of New York city, dramatic critic and editor of "The Sign Post," a weekly magazine published from October to June devoted to reviews and comments on current Broadway productions. Miss Wentworth had chosen as her topic for the evening, "Broadway at a Glance," and gave a most interesting hour of play reviews. She began by comparing the two productions of "Hamlet," and reminded her audience that the John Gulligan "Hamlet" had been performed 182 times, a record run for New York. Miss Wentworth explained that she felt keenly that Leslie Howard had been unfairly treated by the critics and that if his play had appeared first it would have fared much better and would probably have been a decided success.

Explaining that this was a gala year for Shakespeare, she continued her discussion by reviewing both "Othello" and "Richard III." She explained that she felt that the very qualities most loved in Walter Huston made him a poor Othello; that he was understanding and logical, while the only true explanation of the Moor's action was that he was carried away by a wave of emotion. Paul Robeson she felt would make the ideal Othello. She gave particular mention to Brian Aherne for his superb Iago. Maurice Evans has saved the role of "Richard III" which is now being seen in New York for the first time since 1876, when the great Edwin Booth interpreted the part. The part of the aged John of Gaunt is being taken by Isadora Duncan's blind brother, who gives a notable performance.

"Last year was spoken of as a playwright's year; this year is an actor's season," the speaker explained. One of the season's most brilliant performances was that of Catherine Cornell in Maxwell Anderson's "Winless Victory." It is a star play, as Miss Cornell dominates the play throughout, but particularly the third act which is almost a monologue. Miss Wentworth felt the play unconvincing, however, since she found it hard to believe that a 35-year-old successful New England sea captain would ever put himself and his wife into the power of the family he had never liked and with whom he had had little in common. "High Tor," the second of Maxwell Anderson's 1937 successes, deserves unstinted praise, for it successfully combines magnificent poetic writing and pure farce, slipping from one to the other at will without a single jolt to the audience. However, this play also shows the author's defeatist attitude in its closing theme that all civilizations eventually destroy themselves.

As high lights in the theatrical world, the speaker also mentioned "Brother Rat," the comedy built around life at Virginia Military Institute which is being enthusiastically played by a group of young, inexperienced actors who are on their toes every minute; "Tovarich," a perfectly impossible comedy of Russian ex-nobility which holds its mood for three acts without a break; "Stage Door," which the reviewer found clever but insincere in the thesis the authors were attempting to prove, that movies are spelling the ruin of the legitimate stage, and "The Women," which is sparkling, brilliant and hard as chromium steel. She also told of "The Eternal Road," the production in which four men of genius collaborated: Franz Werfel, the author; Kurt Weill, musical scores; Norma Bel Geddes, settings, and Max Reinhardt, producer. It is a superb piece of work, giving beautifully the old Biblical stories of Abraham, Isaac, Moses, Ruth and the Kings. It arouses awe and admiration but it does not touch the heart. And for a rollicking comedy Miss Wentworth whole heartedly recommends "You Can't Take It With You." It is a play that is made of the same stuff as "Three Cornered Moon," and brings to life a perfectly goofy family, that so long as you don't have to live with them, are a joy forever. Miss Wentworth concluded her talk by replying to questions asked by various members of the audience.

Afterward the members of the club enjoyed a social evening. Refreshments were served. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom, Mrs. Theron Cuiver, Mrs. Clarence Dumm, Miss Bella Hyman, Miss Ione Kinkade, Miss Elma Kullman, Mrs. Albert Kurdt, Mrs. Thomas L. Partlan, Mrs. Howard Van Winkle, Mrs. Arnold van Laer, and Mrs. Gerrett Wullschlegler.
